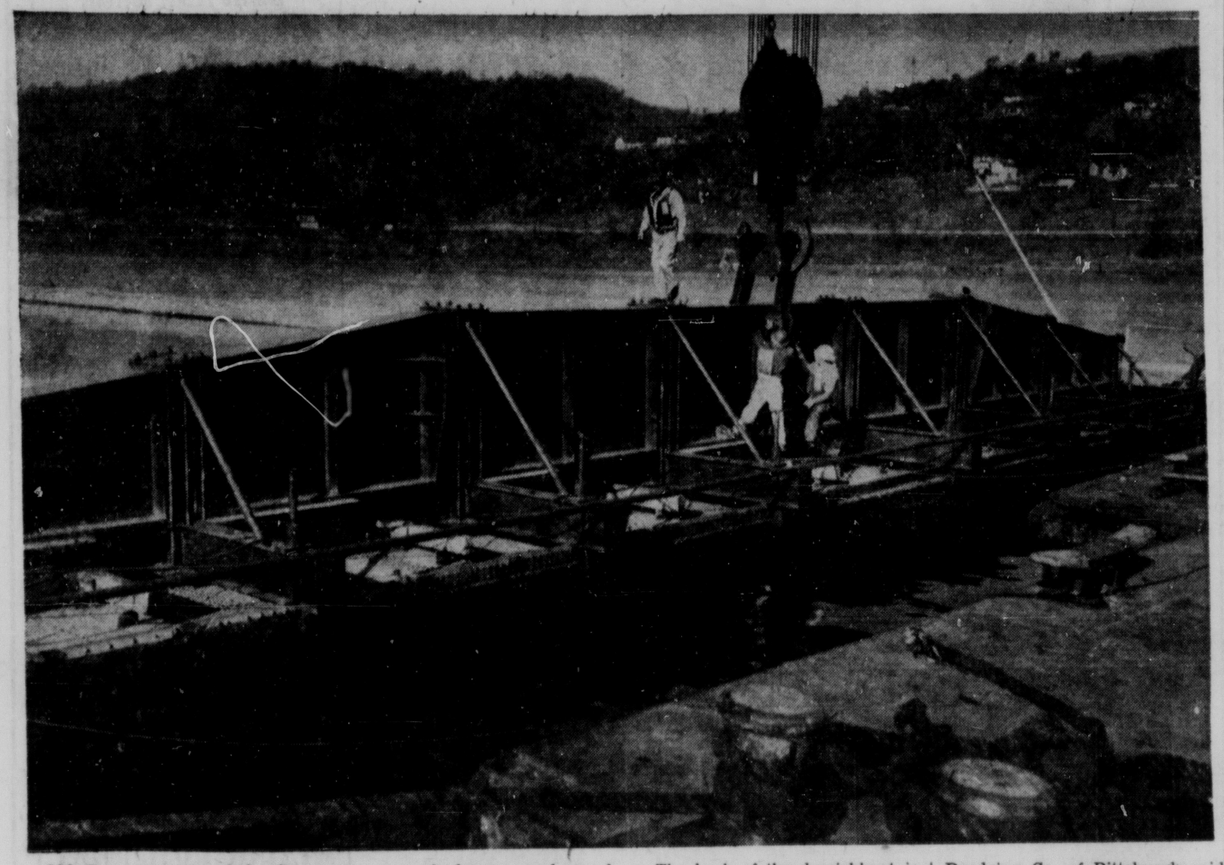
VOTERS OUT IN RECORD NUMBERS

Boating Ramp To Be Built

First Of Big Gates Lifted At Dam 8



Old Dam 8, outmoded after nearly half a century of use, is having its "teeth" pulled.

The "teeth" are the huge sliding gates that used to bite off the river at the ends of the lock chambers when raising or lowering tows in Ohio River traffic.

The "old-timer" is giving away to a young upstart now standing high and mighty at Stratton—the super-dam, which will create a much longer pool and speed up lockages at a pace old No. 8 never dreamed of.

Old 8 will be joined by No. 7 at Midland and No. 9 at New Cumberland in inexorable tribute to progress.

The hook of the derrickboat is linked to a huge girder to which the gate is attached for the giant pull out of the lock chamber. Workmen clamber over the gate to make sure of the left cables.

Another lock gate of similar size at the lower end of the dam probably will be lifted Wednesday and sold for salvage. Both were hoisted from the water last summer for repairs.

The Monongahela & Ohio Dredging Co. of Pittsburgh said it will begin next week the job of blasting out the bear traps on the Ohio side of the river adjacent to the Wellsville superroad. Divers will plant the explosives to the sections embedded in concrete and steel on the river bottom.

The paved, concrete ramp will be located at the upstream end of the upper guide wall of the

67 Million Expected To Cast Ballots

Both Camps Claim Early Lead In Spot Check Before Noon

WASHINGTON (AP) — American voters were out early and in big numbers today making their choice between Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy for the next president.

A forenoon spot survey by Associated Press newspapers and bureaus across the country brought reports of long waiting lines at thousands of precincts. Advance predictions were for a record total of perhaps 67 million ballots.

First trickling reports of how the voting was going quickened spirits of those backing Nixon, the Republican candidate, in New Hampshire and Kansas.

On the other hand, Democrat Kennedy scored in the first straws from Virginia, North Carolina and Minnesota.

As usual, a handful of New Hampshire precincts had their votes all in and counted by daylight. The score: 49 for Nixon, 8 for Kennedy. Republican headquarters rushed out a statement saying Nixon was running 5 per cent stronger than President Eisenhower did in 1956.

In Parsons, Kan., four precincts, incomplete, gave Nixon 71, Kennedy 61, although Democratic candidates for the Senate and governor were running ahead of Republican opponents.

A Virginia fishing village, which went 3-1 for Eisenhower over Democrat Adlai Stevenson four years ago, reported 7-0 for Kennedy over Nixon.

And a North Carolina mountain precinct which was solidly Democratic in '56 remained that way with 8 votes for Kennedy.

A little Minnesota precinct gave Kennedy 3, Nixon 0. No comparison with four years ago was available.

In the spot check around the country, these were some of the reports:

Pennsylvania — Record turnout indicated with voting heavy in all sections.

Michigan—Long early lineups pointing toward record vote. Rapid movement of lines in Detroit indicated most voters were pulling straight party levers on voting machines.

Missouri — Near record early turnout in Democratic St. Louis; some outstate points reported big early vote despite chilly rain.

Texas—Long lines waiting when polls opened in all sections.

Indiana — Prospective record vote.

Georgia — Voting so heavy in larger cities that Atlanta sought extra voting machines but found none available.

Ohio—Heavy early vote.

State and congressional races, some of them as heated as the presidential contest, will help swell the vote total. Twenty-seven governors, 34 senators and all 347 U.S. representatives are also being elected today.

For months both presidential candidates have been shooting off an unprecedented display of oratorical fireworks.

Yet with the millions of words, often repeated over and over, when the end came each man seemed frantic lest something still remained unsaid.

Nixon put in four hours on television Monday, answering questions phoned in by listeners, and then appeared with President Eisenhower and vice-presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge in another 30-minute program.

Kennedy put in 30 minutes of TV rebuttal to Nixon, plus a last moment appeal in a 30-minute show from Boston.

Election Returns

Election returns will be available at The Review by dialing FU 5-4545.

The Associated Press wire will provide the presidential and various state results and the news staff, with the cooperation of the Election Board, the local and county issues.

The ballots are lengthy and the vote will be heavy. It will be some time after the polls close before definite trends can be established in most races. It probaby will be 10 p. m. or later before any returns of consequence will be available.

Check Of Precincts Indicates 3,440; Previous Was 3,340

Columbiana County's total vote in the general election today will run slightly ahead of the 43,727 it cast in the last Presidential race in 1956 and may come close to topping the all-time record of 46,090 shown in the 1952 election, on the basis of East Liverpool's balloting up to 11 a. m. today.

Weatherman 'Votes' Sunny And Warmer

You can't say the weatherman wasn't co-operating with the electorate — the sun beamed and the temperature turned warm as voters treked to the polls today.

The warming spell followed the coldest night this season — 28 downtown and far lower in the rural areas. Everything had a coat of heavy frost this morning.

Today's high range will be 46 to 50 degrees and tonight's low will be a mild 42 to 46, with scattered showers likely. There will be more showers tomorrow and colder by afternoon.

An estimated 3,440 voted in East Liverpool's 32 precincts in the first 4½ hours after the polls opened, just 100 over the 3,340 estimate of the forenoon vote in the 1956 general election. In the 1952 election, when voting hit the all-time record, East Liverpool cast 3,864 forenoon votes.

East Liverpool cast 8,937 votes in the 1956 election and 10,233 in the 1952 balloting. It had 11,738 qualified in 1952 and 10,263 registered in 1956. There are 11,376 qualified for today's election.

If there was a trend in a sampling of the East Liverpool precincts this morning, it was shown in a heavier turnout in the normally Republican areas and a decline in the forenoon polling in normally Democratic districts.

Of 8 precincts sampled, 5 showed declines from the forenoon poll in 1956 and 3 showed gains. Both of the East End precincts sampled today were down from their forenoon turnout in 1956. The heaviest forenoon vote in the city was shown in 2-B, located on lower Bradshaw Ave. It cast 164 this morning, compared with 137 four years ago.

Both Camps Confident

4 Million Ohioans Will Cast Ballots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More than four million Ohioans are expected to throng the polls in chilly weather today to decide who gets the state's big 25 electoral votes for president.

Almost no one pretends to know where the vital electoral votes are going—it is that close, from all indications.

Both Republican Richard M. Nixon and Democrat John F. Kennedy have fought often and hard for the pivotal Buckeye State. Both are confident of victory in the state which has missed the presidential boat only once in this century.

Both camps appear sure they have made the grade with Ohio's unpredictable voters—voters who gave Republican Thomas E. Dewey an unexpected 12,000-vote victory over Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944 and an even-more astonishing 7,000-ballot victory to Harry Truman in 1948 over the same Dewey.

Aside from the responsibility for filling all 23 of Ohio's congressional seats, Buckeye voters have no major task other than their votes for the presidency. Except for one statewide elective administrative office, the Ohio ballot is barren. Other state officials are in the middle of four-year terms.

Democrats are battling — with little assurance of success — for ascendancy in the Ohio congressional delegation. They now trail 14-8 with one Democratic vacancy due to a death. Unless there is a presidential landslide either way, it appears that the Ohio congressional delegation will not shift its strength more than two votes in either direction.

Normally, Ohio is Republican in the rural and small-city areas and in the metropolitan centers of Cincinnati and Columbus. Democrats usually claim the other six cities over 100,000—Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, Dayton, Youngstown and Canton.

All bets were off four years ago when President Eisenhower carried all eight metropolitan areas and lost only one—tiny, rural Pike County—of Ohio's 88 counties.

In that record sweep, Eisenhower piled up an Ohio plurality of 823,000, a mark Nixon could not hope to reach this year, even in his happiest dreams.

Both the Republican and Democratic camps are confident of carrying Ohio. The Democrats say they will win with Kennedy by 100,000 to 200,000 votes. The Republicans call Ohio for Nixon "by a comfortable margin."

Illustrative of the fact Ohio voters can turn the political tables in a two-year period: Four years ago, Eisenhower carried the state by 823,000 and former Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill won by 427,000.

Stakes Are Big

Neither Party Conceding In 27 Governorship Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neither major political party is conceding the other the edge in today's 27 governorship races.

The stakes are big. Victors win not only statehouse patronage but valuable springboards for further political build-ups.

Three incumbent governors are drawing on their statehouse backgrounds today in races for the Senate. They are Delaware's J. Caleb Boggs and West Virginia's Cecil H. Underwood, both Republicans, and Iowa's Herschel C. Loveless, a Democrat.

In the states balloting for chief executives, 14 of the governorships are held by Democrats and 13 by Republicans. Eight of the 14 incumbent governors seeking re-election are Democrats, six are Republicans.

Democrats scored a net gain of seven in the last two elections involving governorships.

G. Mennen Williams is not seeking re-election in Michigan after an unprecedented six consecutive

Little Change In Congress' Lineup Seen

Some GOP Gains Due In House, But Control Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Congress being selected today by the voters will contain many new faces, but little change is expected in the alignment of voting strength.

Although some Republican gains were indicated in the House, a sweep to Republican control appeared unlikely. Instead, the conservative coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats seemed certain to remain a powerful force.

The coalition, forged during New Deal days, functioned effectively in the last Congress. If anything, its ability to dilute, if not defeat, legislation it doesn't like may be increased by Republican gains in today's election.

In the Senate, where the Democrats enjoyed a 66-34 advantage last session, they have 43 holdover seats, which means they need win only eight of the 34 seats at stake in order to retain control. They figure to do better than that.

They hold 23 of the 34 seats being contested this year and 13 of them are in Democratic strongholds, mainly Southern and border states. Several others also seem safe from capture by the Republicans. The most vulnerable are considered to be Delaware, Missouri, West Virginia and Wyoming.

The Republicans are putting 11 seats on the block and will have to hold them all and pick up 17 now occupied by Democrats in order to take over the Senate leadership.

Democrats say privately they would not be too distressed if they emerged today with a net loss of 10 to 15 seats in the House they ruled by a 283-154 margin last session. The Republicans talk confidently of cutting the Democratic majority by at least 30.

Lodge Used To Boos

LEWISTON, Maine (AP)—When a dozen youngsters wearing Kennedy hats booed Vice President Nixon's name and chanted, "We want Jack" in City Park, Henry Cabot Lodge gave them a broad wink and said: "These kids don't bother me. I'm used to this kind of behavior in the United Nations."

GOP Victory Predicted By Weary Nixon

Returns Home To Vote And To Await Nation's Verdict

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boneweary Vice President Richard M. Nixon, predicting Republican victory after 64,000 miles of campaigning, came back to his home state early today to vote and await the nation's verdict.

The GOP nominee's swift-paced, far-ranging quest for the presidency came to an informal, spectacular close here even as early rising voters in the East were stirring from their beds to start the nation's march to the polls.

Nixon's chartered jet airliner arrived from Chicago at 12:57 a.m., PST, after a gruelling 7,200-mile tour from California into Alaska, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and back to California in the final two days of the campaign.

The formal close of Nixon's campaign against his Democratic rival, Sen. John F. Kennedy, came earlier in a nationwide television address from Chicago. In that low-keyed talk, Nixon called a halt to his weeks-long attack on Kennedy and urged the voters to elect the man—regardless of party label—they regard as best qualified to serve America and safeguard peace.

All 5 Killed In Crackup Of B47 Bomber

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A six-engine B47 Stratojet bomber crashed on take-off at nearby Lockbourne Air Force Base early today, killing all five persons aboard.

The $2½ million jet exploded and burned on impact with the 12,000-foot runway.

The crew was on a routine training mission, the base public information officer said. They were to return to Lockbourne after the flight.

Their names were not released immediately pending notification of next-of-kin.

The information officers said the plane began its takeoff roll at 1:58 a.m. EST, had gone about 9,000 feet down the runway and lifted about 50 feet when the right wing dropped and it crashed.

B47 bombers — which gradually are being replaced by newer, faster jet aircraft—normally carry a crew of three. However, the base spokesman said the B47 involved in today's crash carried two extra crew members to operate electronic equipment used to confuse enemy radar.

No one on the ground was hurt, nor was there damage to any other aircraft at the base, the spokesman said.

Sen. Kennedy Confident Of Victory Today

At Home To Vote, Continues To Call Election As 'Close'

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy waited quietly at home today for the verdict of the voters after closing one of the longest, hardest, and most beautifully engineered presidential campaigns in history.

He looked supremely confident, the picture of a man who felt he had won.

But the feeling in his camp is that he is heading for at least a substantial victory over Vice President Richard M. Nixon and at most a Roosevelt-type landslide.

Kennedy's strategits believe he succeeded in seizing the initiative from Nixon in the final weeks of the campaign. Kennedy hammered at the question of the immediate future of the country, arguing that it is slowing down economically and militarily and that it has lost prestige around the world. His aides feel he convinced the voters that he is better equipped than Nixon to "get it moving again."

Their own findings, the figures in national and regional polls, and the unexpectedly large and enthusiastic crowds in the past three days bolstered the high optimism in Kennedy's entourage.

He prepared to vote today at the West End branch of the Boston Public Library in Ward 3, Precinct 6. His wife, Jacqueline, said she would motor the 75 miles from their summer home at Hyannis Port to cast her ballot with him.

Immediately afterward the senator and his wife expected to fly to Hyannis Port to await the returns.

Over Million Go To Polls

Voters In West Virginia Get In 'Final Word' Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Earweary West Virginia voters got in the final word today — in the form of the ballot — and will take a leisurely 13 hours to express themselves.

The march to the polls shutting off a steady flow of oratory and statements about every conceivable issue began at 6:30 a. m.

The office seekers will begin getting the answer to their questions when the voting booths close at 7:30 p. m.

If it's not too bad outside and voters apathy doesn't develop at the last minute, the path to the voting booth should be a well beaten one before the day ends.

There are 1,090,042 eligible to vote in the state's 55 counties. Political observers have a feeling that perhaps three out of every four may mark ballots in 50 counties and pull voting machine levers in the other five.

The last public words by the candidates for the top offices up for grabs were made Monday afternoon at Elkins. The incumbent Democrat Sen. Jennings Randolph, wanting another term in Washing-

Their names were not released immediately pending notification of next-of-kin.

The information officers said the plane began its takeoff roll at 1:58 a.m. EST, had gone about 9,000 feet down the runway and lifted about 50 feet when the right wing dropped and it crashed.

B47 bombers — which gradually are being replaced by newer, faster jet aircraft—normally carry a crew of three. However, the base spokesman said the B47 involved in today's crash carried two extra crew members to operate electronic equipment used to confuse enemy radar.

No one on the ground was hurt, nor was there damage to any other aircraft at the base, the spokesman said.

Sen. Kennedy Confident Of Victory Today

At Home To Vote, Continues To Call Election As 'Close'

BOSTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy waited quietly at home today for the verdict of the voters after closing one of the longest, hardest, and most beautifully engineered presidential campaigns in history.

He looked supremely confident, the picture of a man who felt he had won.

But the feeling in his camp is that he is heading for at least a substantial victory over Vice President Richard M. Nixon and at most a Roosevelt-type landslide.

Kennedy's strategits believe he succeeded in seizing the initiative from Nixon in the final weeks of the campaign. Kennedy hammered at the question of the immediate future of the country, arguing that it is slowing down economically and militarily and that it has lost prestige around the world. His aides feel he convinced the voters that he is better equipped than Nixon to "get it moving again."

Their own findings, the figures in national and regional polls, and the unexpectedly large and enthusiastic crowds in the past three days bolstered the high optimism in Kennedy's entourage.

He prepared to vote today at the West End branch of the Boston Public Library in Ward 3, Precinct 6. His wife, Jacqueline, said she would motor the 75 miles from their summer home at Hyannis Port to cast her ballot with him.

Immediately afterward the senator and his wife expected to fly to Hyannis Port to await the returns.

Over Million Go To Polls

Voters In West Virginia Get In 'Final Word' Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Earweary West Virginia voters got in the final word today — in the form of the ballot — and will take a leisurely 13 hours to express themselves.

The march to the polls shutting off a steady flow of oratory and statements about every conceivable issue began at 6:30 a. m.

The office seekers will begin getting the answer to their questions when the voting booths close at 7:30 p. m.

If it's not too bad outside and voters apathy doesn't develop at the last minute, the path to the voting booth should be a well beaten one before the day ends.

There are 1,090,042 eligible to vote in the state's 55 counties. Political observers have a feeling that perhaps three out of every four may mark ballots in 50 counties and pull voting machine levers in the other five.

The last public words by the candidates for the top offices up for grabs were made Monday afternoon at Elkins. The incumbent Democrat Sen. Jennings Randolph, wanting another term in Washing-

Court 'Walkout' Forgiven But Motorist Is Fined $35

An East End motorist, who walked away from Municipal Court Monday morning because he believed the bonds he had posted would cover any penalties, was fined a total of $35 and costs and given a suspended 30-day jail term when he reappeared yesterday afternoon.

Frank Cornman, 2000 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., was given the suspended jail term on a charge of driving without an operator's license and was fined $25 and costs for illegal registration, and $10 and costs for crashing a blinker light at Elizabeth St. and Harvey Ave.

Cornman told Judge Samuel M. Chertoff he left the courtroom during a brief recess after being told that forfeiting the bond was the same as being fined.

After warning the father of four that the bonds were for appearance only and did not constitute any penalty, the judge withdrew the forfeiture order.

When the judge ordered a brief recess yesterday morning during court proceedings, Cornman left City Hall. Because he had posted the bonds totaling $143, he was not obligated to remain.

When he failed to return after the recess, Judge Chertoff had ordered the bonds forfeited and a bench warrant issued for his arrest.

Cornman was cited by police late Friday afternoon after a chase through East End streets which ended when he turned into a dead-end on Cleveland Ave.

His wife, who is expecting her fifth child, told Judge Chertoff she had called her husband to hurry home after learning that a test showed one of the youngsters was possibly the victim of a lung ailment.

Richard Baker, 938 Lisbon St., pleaded not guilty yesterday to a charge of operating a car with an illegal muffler. His hearing was set for Thursday at 2:30 p. m. Baker was cited early Saturday on E. 6th St., police said.

Grover Ellsworth Heckman of Weirton is due to appear in Municipal Court on a charge of crashing a traffic signal Sunday night at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. Heckman posted an AAA bond for his appearance.

Mr. K Toasts American And Bonn Envoys

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev, radiating good cheer and confidence in communism's eventual triumph, called the American and West German ambassadors to his side Monday night to toast to peace and friendship.

The occasion was a gigantic Kremlin reception celebrating the 43rd anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

While the rest of Moscow dined and danced, Khrushchev proposed a series of eight toasts with various of the 2,000 guests in the Kremlin's great St. George's Hall. Clinking glasses with U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and West German Ambassador Hans Kroll, the Soviet premier drank "to friendship of all peoples, to Europe, to the United States, to coexistence in order to live in peace and friendship."

They joined him in the toast.

Acting as if he were sitting on top of the world, Khrushchev's toasts ranged from world peace to the city of Moscow for arranging the anniversary parade earlier Monday through Red Square.

4 New Hampshire Villages, First To Report, Favor Nixon

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Four isolated New Hampshire villages, the first towns to report, overwhelmingly preferred Vice President Richard M. Nixon in early election returns today.

The towns, voting immediately after midnight, gave 40 votes to Nixon and 8 to his Democratic opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

The votes, with the 1956 division in parentheses:

Dixville, a brand new town in the state's northernmost county—Nixon 9, Kennedy 0 (no 1956 vote).

Under New Hampshire law, very small towns may set their own voting hours and when every voter is accounted for officials may close the balloting. Absentee ballots were on hand from those who could not be present. One absentee ballot cast at Waterville Valley came from Vienna, Austria.

Prosecutor Heard In Court He Was Next On Death List

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The prosecutor who first probed the Chillingworth murders heard in a courtroom confession that he had been next on the death list.

The revelation came in a sob-wracked statement by Floyd A. Holzapfel that he and a Negro drowned Circuit Judge and Mrs. C. E. Chillingworth for $2,000 offered by Joseph A. Peel Jr.

"He wanted you killed," Holzapfel told State Atty. Phil O'Connell from the witness stand.

"He said you stood in his way and you were the political boss" of Palm Beach County.

Peel, a former West Palm Beach municipal court judge, is charged like Holzapfel with murder in the 1955 disappearance of the Chillingworths. He has denied any complicity in the case. His hearing is next Monday.

Holzapfel had blandly repudiated a tape-recorded confession which he charged was coaxed from him with liquor by agents he regarded as friends. But at his murder hearing in Circuit Court Monday, the World War II hero who turned gangster suddenly lost his nonchalance and began blurting out a story that closely paralleled the telltale tape.

Holzapfel, red-eyed from weeping, pointed out Peel in the courtroom as "the man who hired me to get rid of the judge." Peel showed no emotion.

He said Peel hired him and George David Lincoln, a Negro now serving a moonshine whisky sentence, to kill Chillingworth because the latter "personally is going to take care of me" for unethical conduct in a divorce case, he quoted Peel as saying.

12 County Freshmen Honored At Kent State

Twelve Columbiana County students and two from Jefferson County were among 268 Kent State University freshmen honored at the sixth annual Dean's Scholarship Tea today in Kent.

The university originated the tea in 1954 to give freshmen scholars special recognition and to show its desire to attract exceptional high school graduates.

Columbiana County students attending were Deronda Crihfield, Eileen McCullough and Mildred Wise, all of Lisbon; Judith Rance of Leetonia R. D. 1; Theresa Chick of East Palestine; Mary Alice Gause of Hanoverton R. D. 1; Charles R. Cole, Patricia Duke, Polly Jones, Janet Thomas and Dianne Tomkinson, all of Salem, and Ellen M. Daniels of Columbiana R. D. 2.

John A. Pilutti of Hammondsville R. D. 1 and Nancy J. Bell of Toronto were two Jefferson County students attending.

Ohioan Faces 2 Terms For Embezzlement

CINCINNATI (AP)—Wilbur Leroy Brown, 50, faces two concurrent terms of 1-20 years in prison on his plea of guilty to embezzling from two building and loan associations. Judge Otis Hess turned down Brown's plea for probation Monday.

Brown was accused of taking $21,882 from one firm where he was treasurer and $10,358 from another where he was secretary. The judge said a probation study indicated Brown had steadily gone to a Newport, Ky., horse race betting place for the past five years.

Man. 29, Indicted In Cab Driver Slaying

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A grand jury has indicted Martin E. Wilson, 29, for first-degree murder in the pistol-slaying of Columbus cab driver John R. Doersam during a holdup. Doersam, 38, died of head wounds last Thursday, 23 days after he was shot.

Wilson, who lived in a Columbus hotel, once was tried and acquitted in connection with a still unsolved West Virginia murder.

Faulty Cord Blamed In Fire Which Killed Mrs. James Cox

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The bedroom blaze that killed the widow of former Ohio Gov. James M. Cox Sr. was touched off by a faulty extension cord, a deputy state fire marshal reports.

Memorial services for Mrs. Margaretta Cox, 70, will start at 3 p.m. Wednesday at Dayton's Christ Episcopal Church. Private burial services will be held at an undisclosed location with only the family present.

The onetime Ohio first lady was found unconscious in a bathroom of her suburban Oakwood home Sunday after fire gutted her bedroom. She was dead on arrival at a hospital.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Stanley Ridge said "the cord apparently became overheated, setting fire to the tapestry-covered headboard of the bed."

Capt. James E. Walker of Oakwood's combined police - fire department had said Sunday that a cigarette was to blame for starting the fire. But Monday he said further investigation showed Mrs. Cox could not have been in the bedroom where the fire started.

Walker said she probably was in a bathroom and apparently opened the bedroom door upon smelling smoke.

Harry Bloomer, coroner's investigator, said an autopsy indicated Mrs. Cox had inhaled heavy smoke.

The four leading automotive advertisers last year invested a total of $84,905,372 in daily newspapers — an increase of 12 per cent over the previous year.

Election Day In The U.S.A.

With only a small stretch of the imagination, it might be called a supercolossal spectacular in the best style of Hollywood.

It has color: Tens of thousands of small American flags fluttering outside tens of thousands of polling places, not to mention multi - hued political signs and posters wherever the eye happens to roam.

It has stereophonic sound: Loudspeakers blaring with music and message, television and radio sets spewing out last minute "paid political announcements."

It has dialogue: The candidates stopped last night, but the private conversations continue wherever people come together—home, office, street corner, factory, bus, restaurant, even school.

BUT THOSE are only the superficial manifestations of a spectacular. There are more profound aspects to the action:

It has drama: 65 million or more people joining together in spirit to cast a fateful decision.

It has suspense: What is the decision those millions of X's are adding up to?

It has tension: How will the decision now being made affect the lives of each of us, not to mention the lives of more than two billion people all over the globe?

It has humor: The final retelling of all the gags inspired by the long, weary, serious campaign.

It has relief: The candidates have gone to their homes, the shouting is over, there is that wonderful day of relaxation for campaigners and listeners before the climax of the counting erupts during the night hours.

THIS SPECTACULAR is the wonder of democracy in general and of America in particular. "United States" on this day does not mean capitalism or any other "ism"; it does not mean a vast geographical site; it does not mean the President or the Congress; it does not mean Republican or Democrats.

It means people by the millions, moved to the polls by different motives but all seeking the same goal—a better land.

On this day they have a more reverent respect for history and a more sober respect for the future than usual.

Today the arguments, the insults, the accusations, the insinuations of the last few months have lost their sting. Nothing is important now but to make the decision and get on with the business of life in history's most daring experiment in government.

Ohio Has Found The Answer

Writers for coast-to-coast audiences are talking again this year about the "national disgrace" by which an estimated 19 million otherwise qualified voters are barred from registering their decisions for president because of antiquated residence laws among the various states.

We will grant that the situation is something of a disgrace, but we cannot agree that it is any longer "national" in the strict sense of the word. Ohio cannot be included.

For the first time this year, newcomers to our state had the opportunity to cast their ballots for president and vice president even though they had not lived in Ohio the year required to qualify them for voting on races at the state, district and local levels.

THIS IS a wise approach to the problem. The newcomer often has not had enough time to become familiar with the issues and the candidates in his new community so that he can cast an intelligent vote on them. But as a citizen of the United States, qualified to vote for president and vice president before he moved to Ohio, he should have that opportunity in this state regardless of how long he has lived here.

Ohioans therefore, should feel called upon to spread the word around the rest of the country that the "national disgrace" does not need to be endured any longer. We have found a solution to it.

It can be done in a variety of ways. The secretary of state's office is working on it at every opportunity. Other election officials in the state are also doing their part.

BUT EVERY citizen can do some "educating" through his contacts outside the state. The time is ripe now, because the people who have been thus deprived of their presidential voting privilege in other states are acutely aware of the existence of the problem.

If the campaign were to start now, many states could be converted to the new system in the four years before the next presidential election. This would protect the franchise of many present Ohioans who will have moved elsewhere by 1964.

The campaign would have a double effect: It would not only contribute to ending the "national disgrace" but it would also boost Ohio's reputation as the pace-setter among the states in modern, far-sighted election laws that promote the best interests of democracy.

It Feels So Good When It Stops

There was an expression in the closing days of the campaign—"peaked"—that told much about the strategy of the campaigners.

Some observers believe the Kennedy campaign had "peaked" too soon and that this gave the Nixon campaign the advantage of a closing rush. Other observers were sure that the Nixon campaign had peaked too soon.

Both sides were trying to do the same thing—to bring their campaigns to an emotional "peak" at the right instant, so there would be no "running out the clock" while waiting for Election Day.

From the public's point of view, it is evident that both campaigns could not have run on longer without wearing out their political welcome. This has been the argument for shortening the over-all time consumed in campaigns.

Although campaigns as such do not get under way until Labor Day, the drum-beating of partisans starts long before then. This year it reached a crescendo in the spring, when the Kennedy campaigners were staging their warmups in Wisconsin and West Virginia.

Voters have variable capacities for sustained political uproar. Some never tire of it. Some never get used to it. Most voters can take it or leave it and choose to take it in massive drenches only during presidential campaigns because they devoutly believe it is something they owe to self-government.

There does come a time, though, when everybody has been satisfied with politics.

The time had come this year before the last speeches were made and the last rallies held.

Politics in continuous dosage is tolerable only because it feels so good when it stops.

The campaigners go away when it's all over and take a long rest. If they have been lucky enough to win, they even follow the sun to Florida to knit up their raveled sleeves of care.

But post-election resting is not the privilege of voters. When it's over, voters must go back to work with redoubled energy to make up lost time and fill the coffers that are about to be drained by the promises of the winners.

Life goes back to being normal. Politics returns to being what it essentially is—a dialectical exercise in things that never were and are not about to be.

C. Arthur Ross of Texas has patented an invention which, slightly misunderstood by the small fry, is launching millions of early letters to Santa Claus. It is a mechanical man who blasts away with six-gun in each hand, with almost a guarantee it can beat anybody to the draw.

If anybody takes a shot at it hits it through a faster draw, an electric gadget flashes a light which seems to say, "You got me," and there is a buzzer which indicates no desire for a return battle.

Kids assume the robot looks like a cowboy and that the bullets on both sides will be of toy type. What fun around the house Christmas morning!

Ross says invention is for marksmanship training classes of police, servicemen, hunters, etc., but toy men and slot-machine operators will be after it in some form. Pinball machines could be replaced by the cigar and candy-store "Iron Jesse James." You drop a nickel in the slot and take the bandit on with rubber bullets.

Practical Training In Politics

By Victor Riesel

DES MOINES

If America's businessmen sold refrigerators as they sold their political action philosophy during this campaign the iceman would come again. You will hear much about industry across the land pepping up its executives, turning them into political gladiators and send the market place to duel and debate with "other organized forces." It didn't happen.

Victor Riesel

There were mighty few gladiators, though there were many practical politics courses skillfully designed to get them into one or the other of the major parties.

Except for a few companies such as Ford, General Electric, Republic Steel, American Can, Gulf Oil, Telephone and Telegraph and the Chase Manhattan Bank, I found very little anywhere which could begin to match labor's action.

There are plenty of kits, feature movies, slides and lectures but the country clubs draw more heavily.

A CHECK with the U.S. Chamber of Commerce reveals that it put over 100,000 persons through its "Action Course in Practical Politics." There were ladies afternoon societies, Leagues of Woman Voters, YMCAs, Junior Chambers of Commerce and Lions and Elks Clubs. But less than 20,000 of them were business executives.

There would have been fewer, if not for the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. of St. Paul. This corporation enrolled some 5,000 of its people. Yet this was an objective course from which both parties gained.

Most elaborate of the practical politics training was developed by Republic Steel which did it with movies. There were 15 films featuring writers, professors and sociologists, not to mention a few professional politicians.

Each production ran 20 to 30 minutes. They ranged all the way from balloting to gold balances. Republic tried to spread them among other firms without yielding to the profit motive. But there were few takers, even at cost.

MOST INTENSE and yet widespread work was done by the Civic and Government Affairs Office at Ford. They have an Informed Voters Project, a Voluntary Political Contribution Plan and an Effective Citizenship Program.

Some cynics will kid those names. But it is an imaginative and utterly fair bi-partisan operation.

There were editorials, cartoons and messages posted in cafeterias urging people to vote and be active and contribute in sealed envelopes to their favorite party.

Ford produced a public service movie on the importance of getting down into basic precinct politics. The late Joseph Welch narrated the film which was titled "Where Were You?"

Late in October, Ford's plant newspapers in 13 states ran a Voters Guide Issue. It featured both parties' national and state platforms and listed the national and regional candidates right on down to county offices.

Each carried features on Kennedy and Johnson and Nixon and Lodge.

MOST INTENSE of the political action programs was that of the Chase National Bank — it ran one day. It started with a talk by the bank president and then came the slides and the "practical" talks.

Of all industry's organized awareness operation there was one victory. One of the Chamber of Commerce's students, Herman T. Schneebeli, ran successfully for Congress in a special Williamsport, Pa. election.

Otherwise, hundreds of thousands of executives just ran when they heard of the courses. They're not exactly Machiavellis, these boys, not even Marc Hannas.

The Voters' Problem

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The voters' problem in today's presidential election is much the same as in the elections since 1940: Choosing between men rather than ideas, picking a leader rather than a way of life.

Except for 1948, the major dilemma facing the country in all the elections of the past 20 years, including this one, was in foreign affairs.

There are some domestic differences between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

For instance: Kennedy favors federal help for teachers' pay, and Nixon doesn't; Kennedy favors a medical-care-for-the-aged program linked to Social Security, and Nixon has a different plan.

Besides such obvious, much-discussed differences, probably few voters today could recall many others, if any.

But all understand the greatest menace to the country is not internal but external—the threat of world communism—and the greatest problem over the next four years will be coping with it.

Since Nixon and Kennedy are in full agreement on the need for bucking communism, although perhaps differing on some details, they have reduced the choice between them in voters' minds to this one question: Which could handle it better?

The whole campaign — despite everything else mixed up in it —revolved around that question. The candidates themselves made it their primary issue.

In the 1936 presidential race, when Franklin D. Roosevelt ran against Alfred M. Landon, the United States was still in isolation, World War II was still out of sight, and foreign problems were not the major issue.

That year it was a choice between going on with Roosevelt's New Deal, which had been an American social revolution, or turning the clock back with the Republicans headed by Landon.

It was different by 1940 when Republican Wendell L. Willkie ran against a third term for Roosevelt. The New Deal, for all practical purposes, had run its course two years before.

The passage of the wage-hour law with its 40-hour week in 1938 was the last big piece of New Deal legislation. By 1940 foreign affairs completely overshadowed anything else.

By the time of the presidential election that year the Nazis had started World War II and overrun Western Europe; this country had begun its defense program; had started its first peacetime draft; had cone out of its ancient isolation by backing Britain and giving her 50 antique destroyers; and had become jittery about Japan.

Willkie joined Roosevelt in backing the draft and aid for Britain. The only real question left for the voters was: Which could be trusted to lead better in the onrushing, dangerous years?

By 1944, with the country at war, no domestic problem could remotely match the question of the conduct of the war. All Gov. Thomas E. Dewey could offer was the idea he could do it better. The voters didn't think so.

When Dewey ran again, this time against Harry Truman in 1948, communism had emerged as a new danger but this country still had the monopoly on the atomic bomb. There was not yet profound worry about Russia.

The uproar in the 1948 election was mostly domestic: inflation, the performance of what Truman called the Republican 80th "do-nothing Congress" and his own achievements, or lack of them, in running the government at home.

But Dewey was no would-be wrecker of the New Deal. There was no profound difference between Truman and Dewey on the course of American life. So again it was a question of which man the voters had more confidence in.

There never seemed much doubt in 1952—with the country at war in Korea—that Dwight D. Eisenhower, the war hero, would win over Adlai E. Stevenson when the Korean War was the biggest issue.

When the two men met again in 1956 there was no great domestic issue. There was just one that towered above all others: the encroachments of communism. Since Eisenhower and Stevenson, like Nixon and Kennedy, agreed it had to be stopped, their only difference was on details.

British sailors at one time were required by the Royal Navy to suck lemons and limes to help prevent scurvy. Today, however, modern medical science provides more efficient and effective ways of preventing and curing disease. Medical advertisers provided information about their products and services last year through over $24 million worth of national newspaper advertising.

Stigma Of Politics

By David Lawrence

Is All Fair In The Battle For Votes?

If somehow a vote could be taken whereby every man with a good education and a good background in governmental affairs were asked to say on a secret ballot whether he would ever wish to be president of the United States, the chances are that the verdict would be overwhelmingly negative. They would naturally wish to serve their country in any capacity that would be helpful, they would not wish to gain the presidency at the cost of a loss of self-respect or at the price of a troubled conscience. They wouldn't want to have any part of the current type of presidential campaign and the kind of appeal which supposedly must be made to gain votes.

David Lawrence

There are, of course, those candidates who will say anything, promise anything, do anything to win an election whether it is in local or national politics.

The word "politician" has come to be used to describe a person who is adroit, ingenious, tricky and ambiguous—one who can promise all things to all people.

It was Ralph Waldo Emerson who, in his famous "Essay on Politics" written more than 100 years ago, said:

"What satire on government can equal the severity of censure conveyed in the word 'politic' which now for ages has signified 'cunning,' intimating that the state is a trick?"

IS THE POLITICIAN the only one at fault? He could not succeed in winning elections unless, after sizing up his constituency, he came to the conclusion that the people could be fooled.

There is scant comfort in Lincoln's famous epigram that: "You can fool all the people some of the time, and some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all of the time."

Why should the people be fooled at any time? Are they so gullible? Don't they understand the simple facts of government?

Long after this campaign is over there will be discussion of many of the stunts and the maneuvers that were not necessarily designed to fool the people but which nevertheless did so. Instances in varying degrees of misrepresentation and demagoguery can be found on both sides but there is one incident that stands out as an example of how far the saying that "politics is politics" has caused us to veer from our moorings.

It happened on television in one of those five-minute "spots" between shows about two weeks ago, Sen. Kennedy appears with an elderly man and his wife who live in Newport, Ky.

The discussion was about medical care for the age—a proper issue, of course. It seems that the man had broken his hip last February in an accident and that the total medical bill was $619.60. Sen. Kennedy deplored this in the television broadcast and gave the impression to millions of people in the audience that the retired man had to pay it all.

BEFORE THE SHOW was to be taped for broadcasting, the elderly man told Mr. Kennedy that he had had the protection of Blue Cross and Blue Shield but the Massachusetts senator is reported to have remarked, "We will not say anything about that now."

Whether this comment was made is of secondary importance but a sworn affidavit by Dr. Howard Schriver, former president of the Academy of Medicine in Cincinnati, Ohio, says the elderly man told it to him in those very words.

Also, the affidavit says protection by Blue Cross and Blue Shield had been provided, that the major part of the medical bill was thus covered, and the man who broke his hip had to pay the relatively small balance of $146.

He would have paid only $63 if he had not chosen a semiprivate room at the hospital but he was able to afford it.

Now what is important is that this story was widely published last week but not a word of comment about it in reply has come as yet from Sen. Kennedy, who at this writing is confidently expected by many people to become the president of the United States.

Was he himself misled by publicity men or showmen in his campaign who thought that anything goes in politics?

Why was the same show repeated on television by the Kennedy campaign managers despite the criticism?

Many people will shrug their shoulders and brush off that incident as not important and will rationalize that that's the way to get votes and that "all's fair in politics."

BUT IS IT? There has been much talk about the so-called "religious issue" in the current campaign.

There is one kind of religious issue which unfortunately has not been sufficiently discussed or emphasized. It's the importance of religious beliefs and religious practice.

Maybe the preachers should have taken more of a part in our campaigns. Maybe they have failed to make their parishioners, including those who are in politics, realize that the rules of simple honesty are more important than winning elections.

There can be no better quotation to fit the whole sorry business of politics than that which we find in the scriptures: "What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

A nationwide campaign to improve the teaching of English is now underway.

Every effort will be made to get high school boys and girls to write and spell better than they now do. Recent studies have shown that many otherwise intelligent youngsters simply do not know the difference between correct and incorrect grammar. They have not learned correct punctuation or sentence structure.

For years we have heard that college officials are unhappy at the high school products. Indeed, many colleges have introduced remedial English classes, to enable their freshmen to brush up on ordinary grammatical usages.

Last week the issue of poor English in high schools came to a head. The Commission on English of the College Entrance Examination Board, completing the first year of its study, released its findings.

IT RECOMMENDED an immediate re-evaluation of the English courses in high schools. It noted that the 90,000 English teachers need help to cope with the growing problems of overcrowded classes. The average English teacher has five classes of 30 students each. In some instances she may have five classes of 40 each, a total of 200.

One theme a week — of 500 words—recommended by the commission, would mean that the average teacher would have to read 150 themes weekly.

The commission recommended that English teachers be limited to 100 students each. At this rate, the teacher would have a more manageable group. She could give the youngsters more written work and still have time to correct and criticize the papers.

A positive step to improve the teaching of English was taken last week by Dr. Solomon S. Simonson, president of the New York State Speech Association. In cooperation with the New York State English Council, a joint committee of 10 educators was appointed to seek solutions to this growing problem.

Dr. Simonson's group will attempt to found a national organization that will bring speech and English teachers together. Formation of an American Association for the Advancement of Communications, similar in some respects to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, is hoped for.

The new association would attempt to establish a new approach in the teaching of English and speech. These two subjects cannot be separated. It is essential today, in an era of television and radio, that the written and spoken voice be coordinated.

DR. SIMONSON is convinced that teachers must use present-day literature, newspaper prose and the writing heard on radio and television.

"I'm in favor of giving high school students assignments to watch Alfred Hitchcock, The Play of the Week or The Million Dollar movie," Dr. Simonson said. "Let's excite and challenge the high school boys and girls with contemporary writing. Why put them into a 19th century mold?"

If English teachers relied more on current-day writing and less on the past, the gap between classroom and everyday speech and grammar would be closed.

Dr. Simonson believes in the development of a sense of values on the part of the students. Unless teachers realize they are dealing with 20th century youth, schools will continue to turn out boys and girls who cannot read, write, spell, use correct syntax or punctuation.

A reflection of the interest Americans have in amusements of all types is the increase in newspaper advertising on the part of amusement advertisers in 1959 of 41.3 per cent over 1958.

Election Day In The U.S.A.

With only a small stretch of the imagination, it might be called a supercolossal spectacular in the best style of Hollywood.

It has color: Tens of thousands of small American flags fluttering outside tens of thousands of polling places, not to mention multi - hued political signs and posters wherever the eye happens to roam.

It has stereophonic sound: Loudspeakers blaring with music and message, television and radio sets spewing out last minute "paid political announcements."

It has dialogue: The candidates stopped last night, but the private conversations continue wherever people come together—home, office, street corner, factory, bus, restaurant, even school.

BUT THOSE are only the superficial manifestations of a spectacular. There are more profound aspects to the action:

It has drama: 65 million or more people joining together in spirit to cast a fateful decision.

It has suspense: What is the decision those millions of X's are adding up to?

It has tension: How will the decision now being made affect the lives of each of us, not to mention the lives of more than two billion people all over the globe?

It has humor: The final retelling of all the gags inspired by the long, weary, serious campaign.

It has relief: The candidates have gone to their homes, the shouting is over, there is that wonderful day of relaxation for campaigners and listeners before the climax of the counting erupts during the night hours.

THIS SPECTACULAR is the wonder of democracy in general and of America in particular. "United States" on this day does not mean capitalism or any other "ism"; it does not mean a vast geographical site; it does not mean the President or the Congress; it does not mean Republican or Democrats.

It means people by the millions, moved to the polls by different motives but all seeking the same goal—a better land.

On this day they have a more reverent respect for history and a more sober respect for the future than usual.

Today the arguments, the insults, the accusations, the insinuations of the last few months have lost their sting. Nothing is important now but to make the decision and get on with the business of life in history's most daring experiment in government.

Get Thee Behind Me . . .

Ohio Has Found The Answer

Writers for coast-to-coast audiences are talking again this year about the "national disgrace" by which an estimated 19 million otherwise qualified voters are barred from registering their decisions for president because of antiquated residence laws among the various states.

We will grant that the situation is something of a disgrace, but we cannot agree that it is any longer "national" in the strict sense of the word. Ohio cannot be included.

For the first time this year, newcomers to our state had the opportunity to cast their ballots for president and vice president even though they had not lived in Ohio the year required to qualify them for voting on races at the state, district and local levels.

THIS IS a wise approach to the problem. The newcomer often has not had enough time to become familiar with the issues and the candidates in his new community so that he can cast an intelligent vote on them. But as a citizen of the United States, qualified to vote for president and vice president before he moved to Ohio, he should have that opportunity in this state regardless of how long he has lived here.

Ohioans therefore, should feel called upon to spread the word around the rest of the country that the "national disgrace" does not need to be endured any longer. We have found a solution to it.

It can be done in a variety of ways. The secretary of state's office is working on it at every opportunity. Other election officials in the state are also doing their part.

BUT EVERY citizen can do some "educating" through his contacts outside the state. The time is ripe now, because the people who have been thus deprived of their presidential voting privilege in other states are acutely aware of the existence of the problem.

If the campaign were to start now, many states could be converted to the new system in the four years before the next presidential election. This would protect the franchise of many present Ohioans who will have moved elsewhere by 1964.

The campaign would have a double effect: It would not only contribute to ending the "national disgrace" but it would also boost Ohio's reputation as the pace-setter among the states in modern, far-sighted election laws that promote the best interests of democracy.

It Feels So Good When It Stops

There was an expression in the closing days of the campaign—"peaked"—that told much about the strategy of the campaigners.

Some observers believe the Kennedy campaign had "peaked" too soon and that this gave the Nixon campaign the advantage of a closing rush. Other observers were sure that the Nixon campaign had peaked too soon.

Both sides were trying to do the same thing—to bring their campaigns to an emotional "peak" at the right instant, so there would be no "running out the clock" while waiting for Election Day.

From the public's point of view, it is evident that both campaigns could not have run on longer without wearing out their political welcome. This has been the argument for shortening the over-all time consumed in campaigns.

Although campaigns as such do not get under way until Labor Day, the drum-beating of partisans starts long before then. This year it reached a crescendo in the spring, when the Kennedy campaigners were staging their warmups in Wisconsin and West Virginia.

Voters have variable capacities for sustained political uproar. Some never tire of it. Some never get used to it. Most voters can take it or leave it and choose to take it in massive drenches only during presidential campaigns because they devoutly believe it is something they owe to self-government.

There does come a time, though, when everybody has been satisfied with politics.

The time had come this year before the last speeches were made and the last rallies held.

Politics in continuous dosage is tolerable only because it feels so good when it stops.

The campaigners go away when it's all over and take a long rest. If they have been lucky enough to win, they even follow the sun to Florida to knit up their raveled sleeves of care.

But post-election resting is not the privilege of voters. When it's over, voters must go back to work with redoubled energy to make up lost time and fill the coffers that are about to be drained by the promises of the winners.

Life goes back to being normal. Politics returns to being what it essentially is—a dialectical exercise in things that never were and are not about to be.

Politicians go back to being what they essentially are—an adjunct to the main business of living.

One of the greatest politicians of them all once summed it up sourly by saying: "If ever this free people—if this government itself is ever utterly demoralized, it will come from this incessant human wriggle and struggle for office, which is but a way to live without work."

That year it was a choice between going on with Roosevelt's New Deal, which had been an American social revolution, or turning the clock back with the Republicans headed by Landon.

It was different by 1940 when Republican Wendell L. Willkie ran against a third term for Roosevelt. The New Deal, for all practical purposes, had run its course two years before.

The passage of the wage-hour law with its 40-hour week in 1938 was the last big piece of New Deal legislation. By 1940 foreign affairs completely overshadowed anything else.

By the time of the presidential election that year the Nazis had started World War II and overrun Western Europe; this country had begun its defense program; had started its first peacetime draft; had cone out of its ancient isolation by backing Britain and giving her 50 antique destroyers; and had become jittery about Japan.

Willkie joined Roosevelt in backing the draft and aid for Britain. The only real question left for the voters was: Which could be trusted to lead better in the onrushing, dangerous years?

By 1944, with the country at war, no domestic problem could remotely match the question of the conduct of the war. All Gov. Thomas E. Dewey could offer was the idea he could do it better. The voters didn't think so.

When Dewey ran again, this time against Harry Truman in 1948, communism had emerged as a new danger but this country still had the monopoly on the atomic bomb. There was not yet profound worry about Russia.

The uproar in the 1948 election was mostly domestic: inflation, the performance of what Truman called the Republican 80th "do-nothing Congress" and his own achievements, or lack of them, in running the government at home.

But Dewey was no would-be wrecker of the New Deal. There was no profound difference between Truman and Dewey on the course of American life. So again it was a question of which man the voters had more confidence in.

There never seemed much doubt in 1952—with the country at war in Korea—that Dwight D. Eisenhower, the war hero, would win over Adlai E. Stevenson when the Korean War was the biggest issue.

When the two men met again in 1956 there was no great domestic issue. There was just one that towered above all others: the encroachments of communism. Since Eisenhower and Stevenson, like Nixon and Kennedy, agreed it had to be stopped, their only difference was on details.

British sailors at one time were required by the Royal Navy to suck lemons and limes to help prevent scurvy. Today, however, modern medical science provides more efficient and effective ways of preventing and curing disease. Medical advertisers provided information about their products and services last year through over $24 million worth of national newspaper advertising.

Stigma Of Politics

By David Lawrence

Is All Fair In The Battle For Votes?

If somehow a vote could be taken whereby every man with a good education and a good background in governmental affairs were asked to say on a secret ballot whether he would ever wish to be president of the United States, the chances are that the verdict would be overwhelmingly negative. They would naturally wish to serve their country in any capacity that would be helpful, they would not wish to gain the presidency at the cost of a loss of self-respect or at the price of a troubled conscience. They wouldn't want to have any part of the current type of presidential campaign and the kind of appeal which supposedly must be made to gain votes.

David Lawrence

There are, of course, those candidates who will say anything, promise anything, do anything to win an election whether it is in local or national politics.

The word "politician" has come to be used to describe a person who is adroit, ingenious, tricky and ambiguous—one who can promise all things to all people.

It was Ralph Waldo Emerson who, in his famous "Essay on Politics" written more than 100 years ago, said:

"What satire on government can equal the severity of censure conveyed in the word 'politic' which now for ages has signified 'cunning,' intimating that the state is a trick?"

IS THE POLITICIAN the only one at fault? He could not succeed in winning elections unless, after sizing up his constituency, he came to the conclusion that the people could be fooled.

There is scant comfort in Lincoln's famous epigram that: "You can fool all the people some of the time, and some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all of the time."

Why should the people be fooled at any time? Are they so gullible? Don't they understand the simple facts of government?

Long after this campaign is over there will be discussion of many of the stunts and the maneuvers that were not necessarily designed to fool the people but which nevertheless did so. Instances in varying degrees of misrepresentation and demagoguery can be found on both sides but there is one incident that stands out as an example of how far the saying that "politics is politics" has caused us to veer from our moorings.

It happened on television in one of those five-minute "spots" between shows about two weeks ago, Sen. Kennedy appears with an elderly man and his wife who live in Newport, Ky.

The discussion was about medical care for the age—a proper issue, of course. It seems that the man had broken his hip last February in an accident and that the total medical bill was $619.60. Sen. Kennedy deplored this in the television broadcast and gave the impression to millions of people in the audience that the retired man had to pay it all.

BEFORE THE SHOW was to be taped for broadcasting, the elderly man told Mr. Kennedy that he had had the protection of Blue Cross and Blue Shield but the Massachusetts senator is reported to have remarked, "We will not say anything about that now."

Whether this comment was made is of secondary importance but a sworn affidavit by Dr. Howard Schriver, former president of the Academy of Medicine in Cincinnati, Ohio, says the elderly man told it to him in those very words.

Also, the affidavit says protection by Blue Cross and Blue Shield had been provided, that the major part of the medical bill was thus covered, and the man who broke his hip had to pay the relatively small balance of $146.

He would have paid only $63 if he had not chosen a semiprivate room at the hospital but he was able to afford it.

Now what is important is that this story was widely published last week but not a word of comment about it in reply has come as yet from Sen. Kennedy, who at this writing is confidently expected by many people to become the president of the United States.

Was he himself misled by publicity men or showmen in his campaign who thought that anything goes in politics?

Why was the same show repeated on television by the Kennedy campaign managers despite the criticism?

Many people will shrug their shoulders and brush off that incident as not important and will rationalize that that's the way to get votes and that "all's fair in politics."

BUT IS IT? There has been much talk about the so-called "religious issue" in the current campaign.

There is one kind of religious issue which unfortunately has not been sufficiently discussed or emphasized. It's the importance of religious beliefs and religious practice.

Maybe the preachers should have taken more of a part in our campaigns. Maybe they have failed to make their parishioners, including those who are in politics, realize that the rules of simple honesty are more important than winning elections.

There can be no better quotation to fit the whole sorry business of politics than that which we find in the scriptures: "What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

A nationwide campaign to improve the teaching of English is now underway.

Every effort will be made to get high school boys and girls to write and spell better than they now do. Recent studies have shown that many otherwise intelligent youngsters simply do not know the difference between correct and incorrect grammar. They have not learned correct punctuation or sentence structure.

For years we have heard that college officials are unhappy at the high school products. Indeed, many colleges have introduced remedial English classes, to enable their freshmen to brush up on ordinary grammatical usages.

Last week the issue of poor English in high schools came to a head. The Commission on English of the College Entrance Examination Board, completing the first year of its study, released its findings.

IT RECOMMENDED an immediate re-evaluation of the English courses in high schools. It noted that the 90,000 English teachers need help to cope with the growing problems of overcrowded classes. The average English teacher has five classes of 30 students each. In some instances she may have five classes of 40 each, a total of 200.

One theme a week — of 500 words—recommended by the commission, would mean that the average teacher would have to read 150 themes weekly.

The commission recommended that English teachers be limited to 100 students each. At this rate, the teacher would have a more manageable group. She could give the youngsters more written work and still have time to correct and criticize the papers.

A positive step to improve the teaching of English was taken last week by Dr. Solomon S. Simonson, president of the New York State Speech Association. In cooperation with the New York State English Council, a joint committee of 10 educators was appointed to seek solutions to this growing problem.

Dr. Simonson's group will attempt to found a national organization that will bring speech and English teachers together. Formation of an American Association for the Advancement of Communications, similar in some respects to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, is hoped for.

The new association would attempt to establish a new approach in the teaching of English and speech. These two subjects cannot be separated. It is essential today, in an era of television and radio, that the written and spoken voice be coordinated.

DR. SIMONSON is convinced that teachers must use present-day literature, newspaper prose and the writing heard on radio and television.

"I'm in favor of giving high school students assignments to watch Alfred Hitchcock, The Play of the Week or The Million Dollar movie," Dr. Simonson said. "Let's excite and challenge the high school boys and girls with contemporary writing. Why put them into a 19th century mold?"

If English teachers relied more on current-day writing and less on the past, the gap between classroom and everyday speech and grammar would be closed.

Dr. Simonson believes in the development of a sense of values on the part of the students. Unless teachers realize they are dealing with 20th century youth, schools will continue to turn out boys and girls who cannot read, write, spell, use correct syntax or punctuation.

A reflection of the interest Americans have in amusements of all types is the increase in newspaper advertising on the part of amusement advertisers in 1959 of 41.3 per cent over 1958.

Board Sets Increase Jan. 1

$1-Per-Day Raise Given To Substitute Custodians

The Board of Education Monday night granted an increase of $1 per day to substitute custodians and then asked for a study to determine if an adjustment can be made for a substitute at one building.

The increases provide for a raise from $7.50 to $8.50 per day for a substitute custodian at Klondyke School, the lone four - room building in the system, and from $10.50 to $11.50 per day for all other buildings.

THE INCREASES will start Jan. 1 and will be in effect during the school term only, the board stipulated. Substitute pay for summer work will remain at $7.50 and $10.50 per day.

The board then approved a motion by James Lowe asking the study to see if the rate for the substitute custodian at Klondyke can be increased. Lowe said he is opposed to paying only $8.50 per day for a man required to be on duty for at least 8 hours and possibly more.

James B. Moss said he would like to see an adjustment in the $1.35 per hour the custodians receive for summer work, and Samuel W. Brown commented he believed it should be raised "to a better standard."

Supt. Ralph W. Betts explained custodians have a choice of receiving their pay on 10½- or 12-month basis. If they select the 10½-month period, they are hired for 1½ months at a rate of $1.35. No matter which plan is selected, their total income is the same, he stressed.

IF THE summer pay is increased, a downward adjustment would have to be made in their monthly salaries so the total would remain the same, he continued.

The board approved the appointment of Mrs. Violet Torrence as a regular cafeteria employe at Westgate School, bringing the total number to 10, including the manager and assistant.

It also approved the rental of school facilities to seven groups.

The Tri-State Civil War Roundtable was given permission to use the choir room in the Memorial Auditorium for a meeting next Tuesday night at a fee of $5.

St. Aloysius Parochial School was granted permission to use Patterson Field for a football game Sunday for custodial fees only. The rental also provides that no admission charge can be made.

THE CITY Basketball League was granted permission to use one of the school gymnasiums for league games one night a week with a rental fee of $18. The fee will include the cost of a board supervisor.

The Masquers Club of Beaver Local High School was granted authority to use Westgate auditorium Nov. 26 to present a children's play. Custodial fees only will be charged.

Memorial Auditorium was rented to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for a basketball game on Nov. 16 with a fee of $60 and the auditorium at Westgate was rented to the Civic Music Association Nov. 20 for a concert with a fee of $50.

The East Liverpool chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People was granted use of the East Junior High gymnasium for an area meeting next Monday at a fee of $10.

During the rental discussion, C. Walter Ashbaugh asked that the board be furnished with figures showing the amount received from rentals this year.

THE BOARD approved a resolution adopting the rates and amounts established by the County Budget Commission at a budget hearing in July.

The rates include 4.2 mills inside and 14 mills outside the 10-mill limitation for general funds. In addition, there is 3.7 mills for bond retirement and 1 mill for building maintenance outside the 10-mill limitation, bringing the total outside millage to 18.7.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, reported an advance on the October personal tax settlement of $52,040, including $42,080 for the general fund and the remainder for the bond retirement fund.

She reported a balance of $185,254 in all school funds. It includes $99,456 in the general fund; $75,245, bond retirement; $3,090, improvement; $11,381, cafeteria; $15, firemen training; $16.50, foremen training; $139, carpenter training, and $221, night school. There are deficits of $1,865 in the workbook account and $2,445 in the National Defense Act, she reported.

A DELEGATION from the Glenmoor Home and School Association asked the board to solve an inadequate lighting problem at the school, which it said makes it difficult for persons trying to enter the school at night and also results in frequent acts of vandalism.

Betts said the problem already is being studied and the board may possibly be able to take action.

The board also heard an appeal from a mother of a 12-year-old boy for her son to be allowed to reenter city schools. She submitted the results of an examination by a Warren psychologist who said the youth received a rating of 58 in an intelligence test.

The board said it would have to refer the result to the State Department of Education which previously gave the administration permission to withdraw the child from school.

THE BOARD ALSO approved tuition certificates for children attending Lisbon, Beaver Local and West Branch schools.

A letter from Fluno, Steele & Associates of East Liverpool, asking the opportunity to bid on any type of school insurance needed, was received and filed.

Italy's long-dominant Christian Democrat party also won a slightly larger percentage of the vote than in the last provincial elections four years ago but showed less strength than in the 1958 parliamentary elections.

In complete unofficial returns from the voting Sunday and Monday in 78 of Italy's 91 provinces, the Communist-Socialist left moved ahead to within 1.4 per cent of the Christian Democrats' total vote.

Despite the leftist gains, the immediate effect nationally could be to strengthen the present middle - of - the - road Christian Democrat government headed by Premier Amintore Fanfani.

Infant Boy Killed, Mother Hurt By Car

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—John Taylor, 19-month-old son of Mrs. Verna Taylor of Dayton, was killed Monday night and his mother injured when they were struck by a car as she carried him across old U.S. 25 just north of here.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Watson said the driver, Mrs. Mildred R. Lisk, 39, of Dayton, pulled away from the curb at a shopping center and left 38 feet of wheel-spin skid marks before striking the mother and child.

The auto then struck a parked car, knocking it up on the sidewalk, and continued for another three-tenths of a mile before the engine stalled, Watson said.

Mrs. Lisk was apprehended by a township constable 150 feet from where the car stopped, as she walked home. She was scheduled to appear this morning at the sheriff's office after being released earlier without charge.

Voting

Here's the vote in the sampled precincts at 11 a. m., showing first the totals for this morning and then the turnout at the same time in 1956: 1-B, 126 today and 127 in 1956; 1-C, 55 and 61; 2-A, 93 and 97; 2-B, 184 and 137; 2-E, 150 and 147; 2-H, 82 and 78; 3-C, 95 and 110, and 4-G, 75 and 78.

The 152 polling places in Columbiana County opened at 6:30 this morning and will close at 6:30 tonight.

Because of the heavy vote that is expected, plus a large number of special questions and issues, the Election Board believes tabulation of returns tonight will be late, extending well into Wednesday morning.

In the 1948 Presidential election, the tabulation was completed at 3:30 a. m. It required until 3:40 the next morning to count only the "top of the ticket" offices in the record vote of 1952. The 1956 returns were complete countywide at 4:30 a. m.

In addition to the voting for President and vice president, the county has a voice in election of a congressman, a state senator, two state representatives, members of the Ohio Supreme Court and 7th District Court of Appeals and most Courthouse offices.

Forty-four special questions and issues are being decided around the county, including a city income tax question and renewal of a garbage levy in East Liverpool. East Liverpool voters have 5 ballots to mark, but because of the varying number of special issues electors in some communities have as high as 7.

Acting on instructions from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, the Election Board will tabulate tonight's returns in two major segments. The first section covers president, state auditor, congressman and judges of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The second deals with offices ranging from state senator and representative down through all county posts, plus the appellate court. Special questions and issues are tabulated last.

In the record vote of 1952, the rush was so heavy in some Salem area precincts at the outset of the voting that the poll workers feared their supply of ballots would be exhausted. The board rushed them new supplies.

As the deadline for voting neared in 1952, lines of electors formed in front of some voting places. But no one lost his vote. State law says the voter will be given a ballot, provided he joins the line prior to the time set for the polls to close.

Polling Sites Jammed For Beaver's Election

Beaver County precincts were reported jammed at 9:30 this morning, but William B. Smith, director of the Bureau of Elections, said the situation is expected to be worse tonight. Polls close at 8.

Midland's five precincts reported heavy voting this morning, running ahead of the 1956 general election.

At 11 a. m. the first precinct in the Borough Building reported 250; the second precinct at 7th St. School, 110; fourth at 4th St. School, 211; and the fifth at Midland Heights Community Building, 106, which is running double of last's year figure.

In 1956, some 414 had voted in 3 precincts by noon. They included 164 at the fourth precinct; 161 at the first, and 89 at the second. The same three had 571 before noon today.

Wellsville's Turnout May Exceed 1956 Vote

The voter turnout at Wellsville was termed "heavy" in the forenoon. In a spot check of 6 precincts, the poll workers said they had a fairly steady flow of voters and are exceeding the presidential vote in 1956.

At Precinct 1-A, the residence of Mrs. Charles Lascola, 210 3rd St., 86 had cast ballots by 11 a. m. At 1-B, City Hall, some 130 had voted, compared to 116 in 1956.

At 2-A, Smith Heating at 715 Main St., some 87 had voted and at 2-B, fire station, the count was 140 with 33 absentee ballots. In comparison,, only 110 had voted at the fire station in 1956.

The count at 4-D, the W. S. Robinson residence, 1753 Crawford Ave., was 92 and at 4-E, the Mrs. Leonard J. Kinzel residence, 1914 Nevada St., 35 had cast ballots.

The poll workers at 4-E said this was "extra heavy" for such a small precinct.

Balloting In Hancock Is Heavy For Forenoon

An unusually heavy morning turnout indicated that the predicted vote of 15,400 may be reached in Hancock County's general election today.

Political workers predicted that 70 per cent of the county's 22,395 eligible voters may visit polls in Chester, Newell, New Cumberland and Weirton.

Grant District poll workers said the turnout this morning was "fairly heavy." Clay District also reported a heavy turnout, with some 80 having cast ballots this morning in Precinct 12 in New Cumberland.

Most Weirton polls checked said the turnout of voters was "heavy" and workers said scores of voters are expected at the polls later today after working hours.

Palestine's Vote High; May Set New Record

EAST PALESTINE — Forenoon voting trends indicated a record turnout, according to some veteran election observers.

At Precinct 2-A, a "barometer" area on voting, some 170 had cast ballots by 11 a. m. — almost half of the 400 qualified in the precinct.

At Precinct 4-A, 135 had voted, a "not so heavy" ballot, but at smaller Precinct 1-B, 85 had gone to the polls, over half of the some 150 eligible.

The record city vote of 2,756 was cast in 1952. Observers said if over 400 vote in Precinct 2-A today, a new record would be set.

An estimate of the forenoon vote today indicated 1,075 had cast ballots by 11 a. m. In 1952 some 1,175 had voted by noon.

Heavy Turnout Reported At Chester

Chester poll workers reported a heavy turnout up to 11 a. m. today, and more were expected later this afternoon.

Most precincts were exceeding the "heavy" forenoon vote of 1956. At Precinct 1 at the City Hall, 130 had voted by 11 a. m. compared to 140 of 4 years ago, but at Precinct 2 at the Central School 180 had voted compared to 175 in 1956.

At the Washington School, where Precinct 4 is located, 165 had cast ballots compared to 153 in 1956.

Heavier Turnout Seen For Lisbon Precincts

LISBON — The forenoon vote today was running ahead of the 1956 turnout in both Lisbon village and Center Township precincts, poll workers reported.

West Virginia

ton, and his running mate, gubernatorial nominee Wally Barron, appeared together at a hometown rally.

Randolph's opponent, Republican Gov. Cecil Underwood, who can't succeed himself in the Charleston office, hopped about the southern part of the state in a helicopter.

Neely was optimistic. He said he believed the people would respond today with "a tremendous vote of confidence in the national and state administrations of the Republican party."

Naturally, Barron didn't agree. The state's attorney general, trying to move his office from one wing of the Capitol to the other said:

"There is no doubt that the people of West Virginia will elect the entire Democratic ticket."

But the Republicans remained hopeful. They could point to 1956. Then the Democrats had a 259,000 voter edge, but the Republicans elected a governor, a U.S. Senator, gave Dwight Eisenhower a 67,000 vote majority over Adlai Stevenson, and picked up some seats in the West Virginia Legislature.

This campaign was bitter on the state level. Barron and Neely pulled no punches, and kept hammering away down to the last.

The state's economy and how to revive it had top billing, but many words were spent about an alleged tape recording.

State Treasurer Orel J. Skeen came up with it during the May primary. He said the recording was of a conversation during which Barron allegedly offered him $65,000 to drop out the race for governor.

Barron said it was a lie, a hoax, and sued Skeen for slander. The case was settled out of court recently, but the details of the settlement were not divulged.

Neely released to a news conference recently what he said was a copy of the tape recording. Barron came back with a $400,000 slander suit gainst his Republican adversary.

Underwood and Randolph spent most of their time discussing unemployment in the state. Both came out a cure-all.

There was one office missing from today's ballot — state superintendent of schools. Voters two years ago approved a constitutional amendment making the office appointive by the State Board of Education.

Voters otherwise had their choice of the men they want to serve four years as attorney general, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and commissioner of agriculture. The only incumbents standing for reelection were Secretary of State Joe F. Burdett and Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson.

All of the state's six congressmen sought a new term.

Two Supreme Court judges also were to be picked. Democratic incumbents Chauncey Browning of Logan and Harlan Calhoun of Moorefield were on the ballots.

Two hundred men and women were after the 100 seats in the House of Delegates and there were 16 of the 32 State Senate seats up for the voters' decision.

In addition, the 55 counties picked sheriffs, prosecutors, and other local officers. And judges were to be named in the 29 judicial circuits.

The WSCS of the Methodist Church will meet Wednesday night at 8 with Mrs. Paul Mackall leading devotions and Mrs. William Durst, president, conducting business.

Plans will be made for the annual Christmas party and gift exchange.

Mrs. George Simpson of Racine and Mrs. Robert Knightstep and daughter, Alicia, of Columbus were Saturday guests of Mrs. Louis Wagner.

Earl Leeper of Ontario, Calif., and Mrs. Clyde Stewart of Chester were Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Stewart of R. D. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Edison Chaffin and family were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Isaacs of Piketon, Ohio.

Mrs. Walter Zeigler of Buffalo and Mrs. Jack Gealey of Midland, former local residents, visited friends here Wednesday.

lock. Its dimensions will be about 60 feet long and 50 wide.

Included in the contract for the boating ramp are plans for rough grading of a future parking area and a road access.

The Pittsburgh office emphasized that it does not plan to install water, toilet or picnic facilities at the launching ramp area, but hopes that the state of West Virginia, or Hancock County officials will develop the river area into a suitable boating site.

The Corps of Engineers apparently is embarking to some degree in providing recreational facilities for the public when erecting or razing dams for deeper pools in the river.

Salineville's Vote Seen Unusually Large

SALINEVILLE—Unusually large forenoon turnouts at polls here indicated a trend toward a record vote, precinct workers reported.

Governors

two-year terms. Paul D. Bagwell, a Michigan State University faculty member who made a strong race against Williams two years ago, is the Republican nominee. Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, who has wide support from organized labor, is the Democratic candidate.

Otto Kerner, a Chicago judge, is given a good chance of nipping the third-term ambitions of Republican Gov. William G. Stratton in Illinois. Stratton became governor in 1952 when Adlai E. Stevenson quit to head the Democrat presidential ticket.

George Docking, who in 1956 became the first Democrat ever to be elected governor of Kansas, is seeking a third two-year term. His GOP opponent is State Atty. Gen. John Anderson. Also running is Prohibitionist J. J. Steele.

Michigan State will begin a football series with North Carolina in 1962. Games are also scheduled for the following two campaigns.

At Precinct 1-A, the residence of Mrs. Charles Lascola, 210 3rd St., 86 had cast ballots by 11 a. m. At 1-B, City Hall, some 130 had voted, compared to 116 in 1956.

At 2-A, Smith Heating at 715 Main St., some 87 had voted and at 2-B, fire station, the count was 140 with 33 absentee ballots. In comparison,, only 110 had voted at the fire station in 1956.

The count at 4-D, the W. S. Robinson residence, 1753 Crawford Ave., was 92 and at 4-E, the Mrs. Leonard J. Kinzel residence, 1914 Nevada St., 35 had cast ballots.

The poll workers at 4-E said this was "extra heavy" for such a small precinct.

Balloting In Hancock Is Heavy For Forenoon

An unusually heavy morning turnout indicated that the predicted vote of 15,400 may be reached in Hancock County's general election today.

Political workers predicted that 70 per cent of the county's 22,395 eligible voters may visit polls in Chester, Newell, New Cumberland and Weirton.

Grant District poll workers said the turnout this morning was "fairly heavy." Clay District also reported a heavy turnout, with some 80 having cast ballots this morning in Precinct 12 in New Cumberland.

Most Weirton polls checked said the turnout of voters was "heavy" and workers said scores of voters are expected at the polls later today after working hours.

Palestine's Vote High; May Set New Record

EAST PALESTINE — Forenoon voting trends indicated a record turnout, according to some veteran election observers.

At Precinct 2-A, a "barometer" area on voting, some 170 had cast ballots by 11 a. m. — almost half of the 400 qualified in the precinct.

At Precinct 4-A, 135 had voted, a "not so heavy" ballot, but at smaller Precinct 1-B, 85 had gone to the polls, over half of the some 150 eligible.

The record city vote of 2,756 was cast in 1952. Observers said if over 400 vote in Precinct 2-A today, a new record would be set.

An estimate of the forenoon vote today indicated 1,075 had cast ballots by 11 a. m. In 1952 some 1,175 had voted by noon.

Heavy Turnout Reported At Chester

Chester poll workers reported a heavy turnout up to 11 a. m. today, and more were expected later this afternoon.

Most precincts were exceeding the "heavy" forenoon vote of 1956. At Precinct 1 at the City Hall, 130 had voted by 11 a. m. compared to 140 of 4 years ago, but at Precinct 2 at the Central School 180 had voted compared to 175 in 1956.

At the Washington School, where Precinct 4 is located, 165 had cast ballots compared to 153 in 1956.

Heavier Turnout Seen For Lisbon Precincts

LISBON — The forenoon vote today was running ahead of the 1956 turnout in both Lisbon village and Center Township precincts, poll workers reported.

ton, and his running mate, gubernatorial nominee Wally Barron, appeared together at a hometown rally.

Neely was optimistic. He said he believed the people would respond today with "a tremendous vote of confidence in the national and state administrations of the Republican party."

Naturally, Barron didn't agree. The state's attorney general, trying to move his office from one wing of the Capitol to the other said:

"There is no doubt that the people of West Virginia will elect the entire Democratic ticket."

The Democrats are in the majority. They outnumber Republicans 678,000 to 404,000.

But the Republicans remained hopeful. They could point to 1956. Then the Democrats had a 259,000 voter edge, but the Republicans elected a governor, a U.S. Senator, gave Dwight Eisenhower a 67,000 vote majority over Adlai Stevenson, and picked up some seats in the West Virginia Legislature.

This campaign was bitter on the state level. Barron and Neely pulled no punches, and kept hammering away down to the last.

The state's economy and how to revive it had top billing, but many words were spent about an alleged tape recording.

State Treasurer Orel J. Skeen came up with it during the May primary. He said the recording was of a conversation during which Barron allegedly offered him $65,000 to drop out the race for governor.

Barron said it was a lie, a hoax, and sued Skeen for slander. The case was settled out of court recently, but the details of the settlement were not divulged.

Neely released to a news conference recently what he said was a copy of the tape recording. Barron came back with a $400,000 slander suit gainst his Republican adversary.

Underwood and Randolph spent most of their time discussing unemployment in the state. Both came out a cure-all.

There was one office missing from today's ballot — state superintendent of schools. Voters two years ago approved a constitutional amendment making the office appointive by the State Board of Education.

Voters otherwise had their choice of the men they want to serve four years as attorney general, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and commissioner of agriculture. The only incumbents standing for reelection were Secretary of State Joe F. Burdett and Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson.

All of the state's six congressmen sought a new term.

Two Supreme Court judges also were to be picked. Democratic incumbents Chauncey Browning of Logan and Harlan Calhoun of Moorefield were on the ballots.

Two hundred men and women were after the 100 seats in the House of Delegates and there were 16 of the 32 State Senate seats up for the voters' decision.

In addition, the 55 counties picked sheriffs, prosecutors, and other local officers. And judges were to be named in the 29 judicial circuits.

lock. Its dimensions will be about 60 feet long and 50 wide.

Included in the contract for the boating ramp are plans for rough grading of a future parking area and a road access.

The Pittsburgh office emphasized that it does not plan to install water, toilet or picnic facilities at the launching ramp area, but hopes that the state of West Virginia, or Hancock County officials will develop the river area into a suitable boating site.

The Corps of Engineers apparently is embarking to some degree in providing recreational facilities for the public when erecting or razing dams for deeper pools in the river.

Salineville's Vote Seen Unusually Large

SALINEVILLE—Unusually large forenoon turnouts at polls here indicated a trend toward a record vote, precinct workers reported.

two-year terms. Paul D. Bagwell, a Michigan State University faculty member who made a strong race against Williams two years ago, is the Republican nominee. Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, who has wide support from organized labor, is the Democratic candidate.

Otto Kerner, a Chicago judge, is given a good chance of nipping the third-term ambitions of Republican Gov. William G. Stratton in Illinois. Stratton became governor in 1952 when Adlai E. Stevenson quit to head the Democrat presidential ticket.

George Docking, who in 1956 became the first Democrat ever to be elected governor of Kansas, is seeking a third two-year term. His GOP opponent is State Atty. Gen. John Anderson. Also running is Prohibitionist J. J. Steele.

Michigan State will begin a football series with North Carolina in 1962. Games are also scheduled for the following two campaigns.

Board Studies Heating Plans To End Smoke

Figures comparing the cost of heating three school buildings with a combination fuel and with natural gas were submitted to the Board of Education Monday night as its continued its study of smoke abatement.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts presented the report compiled by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. as part of the board's study after a group of Pleasant Heights residents asked the board several weeks ago to seek a solution to the smoke problem.

The utility investigated the costs in the old Taft building, Glenmoor and Lincoln, which are 4-, 8- and 12-room buildings, respectively.

It suggested mixing the high volatile coal, which the board now uses, with Disco, a coal product, and mixing the fuels equally, which the utility said would meet the requirements of Pittsburgh's smoke control program.

The combination fuel would increase the heating cost at Taft from $612 to $990, $646 to $1,045 at Glenmoor, and $816 to $1,320 at Lincoln, based on the price of $8.50 per ton for lump coal which the board paid last year.

By using natural gas and based on 20,000 cubic feet per ton of coal, the heating costs would be $1,085 at Taft, $1,146 at Glenmoor and $1,419 at Lincoln.

The utility also suggested the use of automatic controls on the ventilation system if gas is used.

The superintendent said he is attempting to learn the additional cost of mixing the two fuels when they are dumped into the school bins, explaining it would be difficult for the custodians to accurately mix the two products if they were stored separately.

During the discussion, Leo C. Lawrence, president, suggested a study be made of proper insulation, explaining it is inadequate in the older buildings.

"The primary idea is smoke abatement, but when you get involved with higher heating costs you must try to reduce them," he commented. He suggested the study include insulation of ceilings, heat loss through the glass and air leaks around the windows.

Board members pointed out any program would be long range because of limited funds.

2 Local Unions Okay New Pacts Without Pay Hike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Local 422 of the Teamsters Union and Local 439, International Association of Machinists, have approved new contracts without wage increases until business picks up.

John H. Ralph and James Mullen, executives of the teamsters local, notified Federal Mediator Luther J. DeSantis Monday that 600 members of the local had ratified such a contract. Members are employed by 17 companies engaged in salvaging metals. DeSantis said the contract can be reopened on a 60-day notice.

The IAM local, representing 285 employes, dropped its demand for a general wage increase and ratified its old contract with the Accurate Die Casting Co. The agreement provides for a reopener on wages in May.

2 Cameras Stolen In Daytime Theft

Two cameras valued at approximately $257 were stolen from the Holiday Camera Shop on Market St. Monday, and a thief made off with about $70 in cash from the Sayre Furniture Co. on E. 4th St. over the weekend, police reported.

Harvey Alexander and Francis Newbrough, operators of the camera shop, said the bold theft occurred between 11 a. m. and 12:55 p. m. A Polaroid 800 Land camera worth $166.95 and an Argus M-3 movie camera valued at $89.95 were taken.

Charles Sayre told police late yesterday morning the cash was taken from the furniture store between 5 p. m. Saturday and 8:30 a. m. yesterday.

The loot included $10 roll of quarters, $10 in halves, $10 in dimes, nickels and pennies and approximately $40 in currency.

Council Clears Bidding On Police Radio System

Council approved a resolution Monday night authorizing the administration to call for bids on leasing a new two-way radio system for the police department.

The contract to furnish and maintain the equipment will run five years, the resolution provides. The action was necessary because the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which now furnishes and maintains the system, is under a Federal Court order to quit the radio system business by January.

Phase Of 'Little Merchant' Program

Newsboys Turn Bankers

The newspaperboys who deliver The Review now have their personal checking accounts and are receiving practical experience in banking and thrift as a result.

Under this new plan, the youngsters now make their collections Thursday and Friday evenings of each week to permit them to make their deposits Saturday morning.

Each carrier prepares his own deposit slip and has his own bank book. He then makes out a check payable to The Review to cover the amount of his weekly bill for papers he delivered.

Jerry Pickering, 14, of 930 Princeton Ave. is making a deposit in the above photo to Colin L. Neal, a bank official. Robbert E. Boyce, the bank president, looks on.

Jerry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pickering, has 79 customers on St. Clair, Prospect, Morton, Ray, Ogden and Jackson Sts.

The checking account plan is another phase of the "Little Merchant" program designed to train boys to better qualify themselves for the future as citizens and businessmen.

Arrangements for the checking account plan were made by Marvin Roberts, circulation manager of The Review, with the cooperation of bank officials.

Home Still Needed For Historic Bell

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver told Council Monday night he still is seeking a permanent home for the historic old bell which once hung atop the City Hall at 3rd and Market Sts.

The director reported at the meeting Oct. 17 he was preparing to turn the bell over to the East Liverpool Historical Society, which was to place it on the lawn at the Carnegie Public Library. But the library board has declined to place the bell on its property, he reported at the meeting last night.

Copenhaver said he has in mind some other locations where the huge bell might be placed, but added he is not ready yet to make them public.

The bell stood for years on a vacant city-owned lot at 3rd and Market Sts. But the lot was converted to parking a year ago and the bell was moved to a tract on E. 2nd St. Now the city is preparing to erect a maintenance garage on the 2nd St. site, which means a new home must be sought for the bell.

Crucible Will Switch To New Coke Ovens

The Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. announced today it is switching to newer coke ovens immediately.

The company said the change is being made since the older ovens have deteriorated to a point where further use is unfeasible. Because of gas leakage problems, the transition will be made immediately.

This will have no effect on Crucible's ability to produce coke and steel since the newer ovens are capable of turning out enough coke to meet present operating needs, the company said.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Attorneys for a newly opened shopping center in north central Hamilton County went to Common Pleas Court Monday seeking to head off construction of a similar center across the street in nearby Springdale. Keep An Eye On East First In Vote Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to do your own election experting right after the polls close this evening? Then keep your eye first on the big Eastern states.

If a commanding trend doesn't show up right away, you might focus on Ohio for a clue to farm voting and North Carolina for a line on what the South does, especially how the religious issue figures.

The pollsters and predicters seem agreed that, even more than usual, the race between Democrat John F. Kennedy and Republican Richard M. Nixon hinges on the "Big Seven" states with their total of 205 electoral votes—a long way toward the 269 needed to elect. President Eisenhower took them all in his 1956 sweep.

Most of them are doubtful this time, although polls give Kennedy an edge in the biggest of all, New York with 45 electoral votes. Pennsylvania, with 32 votes and a thoroughly doubtful status, would be a good one for early watching. It's in the east, so its polls close comparatively early—8 p.m. EST.

Another member of the Big Seven with advantages for trend-spotters is Ohio. It has enough rural vote to give some indication what the farmers think of the candidates. Its polls close at 6:30 p.m. EST.

The others of the Big Seven states are California, Illinois, Michigan and Texas.

Maj. Gen Moseley Dies

ATLANTA (AP)—Retired Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, 86, a controversial former 3rd Army commander, died Monday of a heart attack. $6,000 Asked For Repair On 2 Reservoirs

The Board of Public Utilities, which administers the city water department, asked Council Monday night to appropriate $6,000 to provide material and equipment to begin repair of the concrete walls of its Huston Hill and Thompson Hill reservoirs.

The board requested $4,000 for purchase of 200 tons of a combination sand-cement mix and $2,000 for a "gun" with which to apply the material to the reservoir walls. City water department crews will operate the equipment, representing a saving as compared to a contractor's work, W. O. Schneider, chairman, told Council in a letter.

Council referred the request to the ordinance committee.

The water department said it does not expect to launch the repair work until spring, but said the request was made to Council in order that preparations for the project can be made in the meantime.

The funds requested last night represent enough material to perform the repair work on one compartment of one reservoir. Each of the reservoirs has two compartments. The Thompson Hill reservoir, built in 1879, has a capacity of 3,500,000 gallons and the Huston Hill reservoir, erected in 1901, has a capacity of 1,000,050.

The $4,000 will allow purchase of enough material to cover 1,000 square yards of surface. The overall project is expected to require three to four times that amount of material.

The repair could be made on either reservoir without taking it out of service, the department explained. One basin could be drained for the work, leaving the other in service. The dry sand and cement mixture is fed into the "gun," mixed with a small amount of water and then applied under pressure. Reinforcing wire is attached to the concrete wall first, then about 3 inches of the liquid cement is applied.

The water department said the walls of the reservoirs have eroded over the years, mainly because of winter icing conditions. It recalled that a section of the wall of the Thompson Hill reservoir gave way about 1900, flooding part of the roadway and a pottery plant below.

Bulky Freeway Plans Get Council Approval

Council Monday night placed its official stamp of approval on a bulky set of plans for the California Hollow-West End Freeway, which the State Highway Department is scheduled to begin building in 1961.

Plans prepared by Michael Baker Jr., Inc., of Rochester, a consulting engineer, cover nearly 300 pages — each sheet approximately 3-x-4 feet.

The action last night will be certified to the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency's Chicago regional office. The federal agency provided a loan of approximately $125,000 to finance preparation of the plans.

Fremont Firm Begins Cleaning Of Standpipes

Cleaning and repainting of the Henry Ave. standpipes was started Monday morning by a Fremont contractor, Donald Duke, assistant water department superintendent, said today.

The Kessler Co., contractor, is expected to require all of this week to clean and scale the interior of the two big tanks and apply one coat of waterproof paint, he said. The total cost will be $996.

Service will not be interrupted since the company will complete the work on one pipe before starting the other, Duke said. However, there may be some fluctuation of pressure, he added.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Families Should Discuss Politics

Where there are children over 12, election time can afford good opportunities for family forums. Provided each parent can be calm and reasonable and each parent and child can feel his ideas and opinions will be treated with due respect, discussions of the issues can provide high educational opportunities for the whole family. Even the listening six-year-old may gain immeasurable values, if he hears his parents disagreeing over the issues without raising the voice or showing the slightest anger at each other. Still more wonderful, if this child hears a teen-age brother or sister disagreeing without heat with one or both parents.

WHEN PARENTS agree on their party and candidates, and have won agreement also with the older children, none of them may learn much about the issues of the oppositing party or candidates.

However, an occasional parent is so objective and reasonable that his children may hear him or her calmly say now and then of the oppositing party or candidates, "This is how they look at it".

When guests drop in, children listen. Most cultivated parents avoid talking politics then, as a rule, unless they are sure the guests wholly agree with all their political beliefs and preferences.

Even then, of course, the listening children may not learn much about the real differences between the different parties and candidates.

OF FIRST importance, it seems to me, is that our children shall not hear us parents express hate. We don't want them to grow up in an atmosphere of hate.

We have a tendency to listen to and read only the speeches of our political heroes and to dwell only on them in our family discussions.

For the best education of ourselves and our children, we should listen and talk with them about the speeches from both sides. And, although we have in the home a newspaper slanted toward our preference, we also should have one with an opposite slant.

Because our children will know before election how we are going to vote, it's good for them to hear us state clearly our reasons and not just our feelings and preudices.

Most of all, our children should know that we go to the polls and vote. We want them to see that we participate in this privilege and duty of good citizenship. We want them to look forward to the time when they can do likewise.

Pilot Of Crashed Plane Fired Before Mishap, Source Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed Washington sources say attorneys for Arctic Pacific Airlines sent a letter to the Federal Aviation Agency Oct. 27 giving notice that pilot Donald L. J. Chesher had been fired. Two days later, with Chesher aboard as pilot, an Arctic Pacific charter plane crashed at Toledo (Ohio) Express Airport, killing 22.

Government investigators were reported today seeking to find out why a supposedly discharged pilot was in command of the two-engine C46 that carried to death 16 members of the California State Polytechnic College football team from San Luis Obispo.

Also among the dead was Chesher, of San Leandro, Calif.

Ironically, the letter telling of Chesher's discharge reached the FAA Oct. 31—two days after the crash.

The government inquiry came to light coincidentally with the filing Monday of an appeal by the Oakland, Calif., airline to the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB). The airline is appealing an FAA order suspending its operation.

Last Monday, FAA Administrator E. R. Quesada suspended Arctic Pacific's certificate, as a supplemental airline, for what he called "gross disregard for public safety and the regulations of the FAA."

In the appeal from that order, Chesher's fring was cited as one reason for the FAA to reconsider, and reduce, its proposed levy of $16,000 in fines against the airline.

The FAA had notified Cheser last July 1 that effective the 15th of that month his airline pilot rating would be revoked for a series of violations.

Chesher was believed to have been riding in the co-pilot's seat of the fatal plane, but officials said he was listed as pilot in command. Of the 48 aboard, including the crew, 26 survived.

100 At Legion Group Dinner

Six former heads of Midland American Legion Post 481 were among 100 at a banquet of past commanders Monday evening in Beaver.

The dinner was one of several events planned for the Beaver County observance of Veterans Day this week in Beaver.

Attending from Midland were Lawrence Andres, Basil Allen, Frank Gibson, Truman Rodfong, Joseph Mulach and Harry Hulton, also Beaver county commander.

Judge Robert McCreery, Beaver County president judge, gave the principal speech. Harry Wisner of the Beaver Falls post was toastmaster. He is county Legion chaplain.

Remarks were made by Hulton, Ray McLaughlin, immediate past county commander, and George Yourns, District 26 commander. There was group singing led by Gordon Camp, county commissioner, and singing by a quartet of past commanders.

Entertainment included a magic act by Bill Bright of Beaver. A social hour followed at the Beaver Legion hall.

Events of the week's observance began with the 40 & 8 parade Saturday evening and the memorial service Sunday.

The Veterans Day parade will be Friday at 10:45 a. m., led by the Midland High School Band and Hulton and Ray McLaughlin. A gold star mothers' banquet will follow at the First Presbyterian Church.

Board Studies Heating Plans To End Smoke

Figures comparing the cost of heating three school buildings with a combination fuel and with natural gas were submitted to the Board of Education Monday night as its continued its study of smoke abatement.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts presented the report compiled by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. as part of the board's study after a group of Pleasant Heights residents asked the board several weeks ago to seek a solution to the smoke problem.

The utility investigated the costs in the old Taft building, Glenmoor and Lincoln, which are 4-, 8- and 12-room buildings, respectively.

It suggested mixing the high volatile coal, which the board now uses, with Disco, a coal product, and mixing the fuels equally, which the utility said would meet the requirements of Pittsburgh's smoke control program.

The combination fuel would increase the heating cost at Taft from $612 to $990, $646 to $1,045 at Glenmoor, and $816 to $1,320 at Lincoln, based on the price of $8.50 per ton for lump coal which the board paid last year.

By using natural gas and based on 20,000 cubic feet per ton of coal, the heating costs would be $1,085 at Taft, $1,146 at Glenmoor and $1,419 at Lincoln.

The utility also suggested the use of automatic controls on the ventilation system if gas is used.

The superintendent said he is attempting to learn the additional cost of mixing the two fuels when they are dumped into the school bins, explaining it would be difficult for the custodians to accurately mix the two products if they were stored separately.

During the discussion, Leo C. Lawrence, president, suggested a study be made of proper insulation, explaining it is inadequate in the older buildings.

"The primary idea is smoke abatement, but when you get involved with higher heating costs you must try to reduce them," he commented. He suggested the study include insulation of ceilings, heat loss through the glass and air leaks around the windows.

Board members pointed out any program would be long range because of limited funds.

2 Local Unions Okay New Pacts Without Pay Hike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Local 422 of the Teamsters Union and Local 439, International Association of Machinists, have approved new contracts without wage increases until business picks up.

John H. Ralph and James Mullen, executives of the teamsters local, notified Federal Mediator Luther J. DeSantis Monday that 600 members of the local had ratified such a contract. Members are employed by 17 companies engaged in salvaging metals. DeSantis said the contract can be reopened on a 60-day notice.

The IAM local, representing 285 employes, dropped its demand for a general wage increase and ratified its old contract with the Accurate Die Casting Co. The agreement provides for a reopener on wages in May.

2 Cameras Stolen In Daytime Theft

Two cameras valued at approximately $257 were stolen from the Holiday Camera Shop on Market St. Monday, and a thief made off with about $70 in cash from the Sayre Furniture Co. on E. 4th St. over the weekend, police reported.

Harvey Alexander and Francis Newbrough, operators of the camera shop, said the bold theft occurred between 11 a. m. and 12:55 p. m. A Polaroid 800 Land camera worth $166.95 and an Argus M-3 movie camera valued at $89.95 were taken.

One camera was taken from a shelf and the other from a display window, they said.

Charles Sayre told police late yesterday morning the cash was taken from the furniture store between 5 p. m. Saturday and 8:30 a. m. yesterday.

The loot included $10 roll of quarters, $10 in halves, $10 in dimes, nickels and pennies and approximately $40 in currency.

Council Clears Bidding On Police Radio System

Council approved a resolution Monday night authorizing the administration to call for bids on leasing a new two-way radio system for the police department.

The contract to furnish and maintain the equipment will run five years, the resolution provides. The action was necessary because the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., which now furnishes and maintains the system, is under a Federal Court order to quit the radio system business by January.

Ex-Opera Star Dies

Phase Of 'Little Merchant' Program

Newsboys Turn Bankers

The newspaperboys who deliver The Review now have their personal checking accounts and are receiving practical experience in banking and thrift as a result.

Under this new plan, the youngsters now make their collections Thursday and Friday evenings of each week to permit them to make their deposits Saturday morning.

Each carrier prepares his own deposit slip and has his own bank book. He then makes out a check payable to The Review to cover the amount of his weekly bill for papers he delivered.

Jerry Pickering, 14, of 930 Princeton Ave. is making a deposit in the above photo to Collin L. Neal, a bank official. Robbert E. Boyce, the bank president, looks on.

Jerry, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pickering, has 79 customers on St. Clair, Prospect, Morton, Ray, Ogden and Jackson Sts.

The checking account plan is another phase of the "Little Merchant" program designed to train boys to better qualify themselves for the future as citizens and businessmen.

Arrangements for the checking account plan were made by Marvin Roberts, circulation manager of The Review, with the cooperation of bank officials.

Home Still Needed For Historic Bell

Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver told Council Monday night he still is seeking a permanent home for the historic old bell which once hung atop the City Hall at 3rd and Market Sts.

The director reported at the meeting Oct. 17 he was preparing to turn the bell over to the East Liverpool Historical Society, which was to place it on the lawn at the Carnegie Public Library. But the library board has declined to place the bell on its property, he reported at the meeting last night.

Copenhaver said he has in mind some other locations where the huge bell might be placed, but added he is not ready yet to make them public.

The bell stood for years on a vacant city-owned lot at 3rd and Market Sts. But the lot was converted to parking a year ago and the bell was moved to a tract on E. 2nd St. Now the city is preparing to erect a maintenance garage on the 2nd St. site, which means a new home must be sought for the bell.

Crucible Will Switch To New Coke Ovens

The Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. announced today it is switching to newer coke ovens immediately.

The company said the change is being made since the older ovens have deteriorated to a point where further use is unfeasible. Because of gas leakage problems, the transition will be made immediately.

This will have no effect on Crucible's ability to produce coke and steel since the newer ovens are capable of turning out enough coke to meet present operating needs, the company said.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Judge Louis J. Schneider of Hamilton County has been assigned to the common pleas bench in adjoining Clermont County when Clermont Commissioner Con Ison goes on trial Nov. 28 on a charge of bribery. Chief Justice Carl Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court made the assignment Monday. Ison, who seeks re-election today, faces four counts of accepting bribes totaling $1,950.

Seek To Halt Store

CINCINNATI (AP) — Attorneys for a newly opened shopping center in north central Hamilton County went to Common Pleas Court Monday seeking to head off construction of a similar center across the street in nearby Springdale. The Tri-County Center sued to have Springdale's council barred from allowing a 40-acre tract to open up to the new builder, Village Square Shopping Centre, Inc.

Keep An Eye On East First In Vote Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to do your own election experting right after the polls close this evening? Then keep your eye first on the big Eastern states.

If a commanding trend doesn't show up right away, you might focus on Ohio for a clue to farm voting and North Carolina for a line on what the South does, especially how the religious issue figures.

The pollsters and predicters seem agreed that, even more than usual, the race between Democrat John F. Kennedy and Republican Richard M. Nixon hinges on the "Big Seven" states with their total of 205 electoral votes—a long way toward the 269 needed to elect. President Eisenhower took them all in his 1956 sweep.

Most of them are doubtful this time, although polls give Kennedy an edge in the biggest of all, New York with 45 electoral votes. Pennsylvania, with 32 votes and a thoroughly doubtful status, would be a good one for early watching. It's in the east, so its polls close comparatively early—8 p.m. EST.

Another member of the Big Seven with advantages for trend-spotters is Ohio. It has enough rural vote to give some indication what the farmers think of the candidates. Its polls close at 6:30 p.m. EST.

The others of the Big Seven states are California, Illinois, Michigan and Texas.

Maj. Gen Moseley Dies

ATLANTA (AP)—Retired Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, 86, a controversial former 3rd Army commander, died Monday of a heart attack. $6,000 Asked For Repair On 2 Reservoirs

The Board of Public Utilities, which administers the city water department, asked Council Monday night to appropriate $6,000 to provide material and equipment to begin repair of the concrete walls of its Huston Hill and Thompson Hill reservoirs.

The board requested $4,000 for purchase of 200 tons of a combination sand-cement mix and $2,000 for a "gun" with which to apply the material to the reservoir walls. City water department crews will operate the equipment, representing a saving as compared to a contractor's work, W. O. Schneider, chairman, told Council in a letter.

Council referred the request to the ordinance committee.

The water department said it does not expect to launch the repair work until spring, but said the request was made to Council in order that preparations for the project can be made in the meantime.

The funds requested last night represent enough material to perform the repair work on one compartment of one reservoir. Each of the reservoirs has two compartments. The Thompson Hill reservoir, built in 1879, has a capacity of 3,500,000 gallons and the Huston Hill reservoir, erected in 1901, has a capacity of 1,000,050.

The $4,000 will allow purchase of enough material to cover 1,000 square yards of surface. The overall project is expected to require three to four times that amount of material.

The repair could be made on either reservoir without taking it out of service, the department explained. One basin could be drained for the work, leaving the other in service. The dry sand and cement mixture is fed into the "gun," mixed with a small amount of water and then applied under pressure. Reinforcing wire is attached to the concrete wall first, then about 3 inches of the liquid cement is applied.

The water department said the walls of the reservoirs have eroded over the years, mainly because of winter icing conditions. It recalled that a section of the wall of the Thompson Hill reservoir gave way about 1900, flooding part of the roadway and a pottery plant below.

Bulky Freeway Plans Get Council Approval

Council Monday night placed its official stamp of approval on a bulky set of plans for the California Hollow-West End Freeway, which the State Highway Department is scheduled to begin building in 1961.

Plans prepared by Michael Baker Jr., Inc., of Rochester, a consulting engineer, cover nearly 300 pages — each sheet approximately 3-x-4 feet.

The action last night will be certified to the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency's Chicago regional office. The federal agency provided a loan of approximately $125,000 to finance preparation of the plans.

Fremont Firm Begins Cleaning Of Standpipes

Cleaning and repainting of the Henry Ave. standpipes was started Monday morning by a Fremont contractor, Donald Duke, assistant water department superintendent, said today.

The Kessler Co., contractor, is expected to require all of this week to clean and scale the interior of the two big tanks and apply one coat of waterproof paint, he said. The total cost will be $996.

Service will not be interrupted since the company will complete the work on one pipe before starting the other, Duke said. However, there may be some fluctuation of pressure, he added.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Families Should Discuss Politics

Where there are children over 12, election time can afford good opportunities for family forums. Provided each parent can be calm and reasonable and each parent and child can feel his ideas and opinions will be treated with due respect, discussions of the issues can provide high educational opportunities for the whole family. Even the listening six-year-old may gain immeasurable values, if he hears his parents disagreeing over the issues without raising the voice or showing the slightest anger at each other. Still more wonderful, if this child hears a teen-age brother or sister disagreeing without heat with one or both parents.

WHEN PARENTS agree on their party and candidates, and have won agreement also with the older children, none of them may learn much about the issues of the oppositing party or candidates.

However, an occasional parent is so objective and reasonable that his children may hear him or her calmly say now and then of the oppositing party or candidates, "This is how they look at it".

When guests drop in, children listen. Most cultivated parents avoid talking politics then, as a rule, unless they are sure the guests wholly agree with all their political beliefs and preferences.

Even then, of course, the listening children may not learn much about the real differences between the different parties and candidates.

OF FIRST importance, it seems to me, is that our children shall not hear us parents express hate. We don't want them to grow up in an atmosphere of hate.

We have a tendency to listen to and read only the speeches of our political heroes and to dwell only on them in our family discussions.

For the best education of ourselves and our children, we should listen and talk with them about the speeches from both sides. And, although we have in the home a newspaper slanted toward our preference, we also should have one with an opposite slant.

Because our children will know before election how we are going to vote, it's good for them to hear us state clearly our reasons and not just our feelings and preudices.

Most of all, our children should know that we go to the polls and vote. We want them to see that we participate in this privilege and duty of good citizenship. We want them to look forward to the time when they can do likewise.

Pilot Of Crashed Plane Fired Before Mishap, Source Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed Washington sources say attorneys for Arctic Pacific Airlines sent a letter to the Federal Aviation Agency Oct. 27 giving notice that pilot Donald L. J. Chesher had been fired. Two days later, with Chesher aboard as pilot, an Arctic Pacific charter plane crashed at Toledo (Ohio) Express Airport, killing 22.

Government investigators were reported today seeking to find out why a supposedly discharged pilot was in command of the two-engine C46 that carried to death 16 members of the California State Polytechnic College football team from San Luis Obispo.

Also among the dead was Chesher, of San Leandro, Calif.

Ironically, the letter telling of Chesher's discharge reached the FAA Oct. 31—two days after the crash.

The government inquiry came to light coincidentally with the filing Monday of an appeal by the Oakland, Calif., airline to the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB). The airline is appealing an FAA order suspending its operation.

Last Monday, FAA Administrator E. R. Quesada suspended Arctic Pacific's certificate, as a supplemental airline, for what he called "gross disregard for public safety and the regulations of the FAA."

In the appeal from that order, Chesher's fring was cited as one reason for the FAA to reconsider, and reduce, its proposed levy of $16,000 in fines against the airline.

The FAA had notified Cheser last July 1 that effective the 15th of that month his airline pilot rating would be revoked for a series of violations.

Chesher was believed to have been riding in the co-pilot's seat of the fatal plane, but officials said he was listed as pilot in command. Of the 48 aboard, including the crew, 26 survived.

Events of the week's observance began with the 40 & 8 parade Saturday evening and the memorial service Sunday.

The Veterans Day parade will be Friday at 10:45 a. m., led by the Midland High School Band and Hulton and Ray McLaughlin. A gold star mothers' banquet will follow at the First Presbyterian Church.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Overweights Must Overcome Self Pity

This dietitian has been writing a column on weight control for lo these many years. It is my conviction that once you get into the spirit of things, reducing is a stimulating challenge.

By Ida Jean Kain

It's a mistake to associate will power with self-denial. Will power is willingness — doing what you want to do. Always think in terms of rewards, never in terms of deprivation.

One reducer found this psychology to be unexpectedly freeing: When tempted by some fattening favorite she would say to herself, "I can have that dessert and it will taste heavenly for five minutes — but it will be no favor to myself — I want to be slim!"

She reported that by reasoning thus and saying out loud — I want to be slim — she could triumphantly turn down any tempter.

YOUR FRAME of mind is all important. Any time you start to feel sorry for yourself, analyze what you are really giving up—burdensome pounds. Recognize self pity for what it is—a way of finding justification for not doing anything about a problem. This is a self-deception that can keep you forever overweight!

The day you wake up to the energizing fact that taking off excess pounds is the greatest favor you can do yourself, reducing will be easy.

Remember, too, that will power is your strongest desire of the moment. At the moment when you are tempted to abandon calorie restriction, try this plan: Flash on the screen of your mind the picture of yourself the way you wish to become, willowy-waisted and right weight. Keep your goal in mind and slimming becomes an adventure in living.

Back this winning psychology with nutrition science and calorie arithmetic. You can set the approximate date at which you can expect to be 15 to 20 pounds lighter and able to slip into a size smaller dress.

Your calorie deficit sets your rate of weight loss. One pound of body fat has a fuel value of 3,500 calories. Figure from there.

For sedentary workers and push-button housewives calorie requirements have been estimated at 2000 per day. If you cut down to 1,000 calories a day, in one week you will draw on body fat for 7,000 calories and you will lose two pounds.

Continue the calorie subtraction and in ten weeks you will be 20 pounds lighter. Or, you can reduce at a more leisurely rate and have 1,200 to 1,500 calories a day.

CHOOSE THE foods which furnish essential nutrients for they are the bargain calories.

Here is the list: Lean meat, fish and fowl, eggs, skim milk or buttermilk, cheese and cottage cheese; green and yellow vegetables, fruit, including a citrus fruit or juice, plus a limited amount of whole grain cereal or bread.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Lorain Council Seeks Action To Extend Jobless Benefits

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — City Council Monday night voted to ask Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to call a special session of the legislature to extend unemployment benefits beyond the present 26-week limit.

An emergency resolution proposing an immediate session of the legislature was approved unanimously after the Council read letters from officers of Local 1104 of the United Steelworkers Union. Eight thousand members of the local are employed at the Lorain works of the U.S. Steel Corp.'s National Tube Division.

Councilman Alex Olejko, a steelworker, said he was worried about the two months intervening before the legislature meets in regular session in January. He explained that unemployment benefits were needed by some of the steelworkers out of a job.

Mayor John C. Jaworski said he didn't think the unemployment situation was "real bad" now, but added that the situation might become critical between Thanksgiving and Christmas with the city's relief load overburdened.

"The extended benefits would carry the men at least until spring when they might find it easier to find a job," he said.

Delegates to the United Steelworkers District 28 convention in Cleveland also asked DSalle to call a special session of the legislature on unemployment compensation. They asked that the session be called immediately after today's election to extend jobless benefits from the present 26 weeks to 39 weeks.

"Because of the unemployment situation in steel companies and the state as a whole, the increased benefits will give more purchasing power, which also will benefit many small businesses," the delegates said in a resolution asking for the special session.

Wounds In Head Fatal To Woman

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Head wounds received when she was shot during an argument with a next-door neighbor have proved fatal to Mrs. Betty Jordan, 35-year-old divorcee from Rt. 2, Piqua.

She died Monday night in Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton, where she had been taken apparently to undergo surgery for removal of two bullets in her head. The surgery was never performed. A bullet in her neck had been extracted earlier at a Troy hospital.

Police Chief John C. Hennessy indicated that Tilmer Pettis, 29, Mrs. Jordan's next-door neighbor, will be charged with first-degree murder. Pettis was charged earlier, before the victim's death, with shooting with intent to kill.

Police Lt. Robert E. Brown said Pettis had signed a statement admitting he shot the divorcee in the street here following an argument.

Pettis turned himself in to police in nearby Piqua shortly after the shooting. Officers said he handed over a .32 caliber revolver with three fired shells.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I keep the paring knives in my kitchen sharper for a longer time?

A. You can do this if you'll keep your knives in a holder, and especially if the holder is filled with sand. The sand tends to sharpen the cutting edges and keep the blades separated from each other. Such a holder can be easily made by slitting the top of a baking-powder can for insertion of the blades. Then you can decorate this container with some attractive decals.

Q. What is a good homemade solution for cleaning painted walls?

A. Combine two ounces of borax, one teaspoonful of ammonia, and two quarts of water. You'll need no soap. Apply this with a soft cloth.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Overweights Must Overcome Self Pity

This dietitian has been writing a column on weight control for lo these many years. It is my conviction that once you get into the spirit of things, reducing is a stimulating challenge.

By Ida Jean Kain

It's a mistake to associate will power with self-denial. Will power is willingness — doing what you want to do. Always think in terms of rewards, never in terms of deprivation.

One reducer found this psychology to be unexpectedly freeing: When tempted by some fattening favorite she would say to herself, "I can have that dessert and it will taste heavenly for five minutes — but it will be no favor to myself — I want to be slim!"

She reported that by reasoning thus and saying out loud — I want to be slim — she could triumphantly turn down any tempter.

YOUR FRAME of mind is all important. Any time you start to feel sorry for yourself, analyze what you are really giving up—burdensome pounds. Recognize self pity for what it is—a way of finding justification for not doing anything about a problem. This is a self-deception that can keep you forever overweight!

The day you wake up to the energizing fact that taking off excess pounds is the greatest favor you can do yourself, reducing will be easy.

Remember, too, that will power is your strongest desire of the moment. At the moment when you are tempted to abandon calorie restriction, try this plan: Flash on the screen of your mind the picture of yourself the way you wish to become, willowy-waisted and right weight. Keep your goal in mind and slimming becomes an adventure in living.

Back this winning psychology with nutrition science and calorie arithmetic. You can set the approximate date at which you can expect to be 15 to 20 pounds lighter and able to slip into a size smaller dress.

Your calorie deficit sets your rate of weight loss. One pound of body fat has a fuel value of 3,500 calories. Figure from there.

For sedentary workers and push-button housewives calorie requirements have been estimated at 2000 per day. If you cut down to 1,000 calories a day, in one week you will draw on body fat for 7,000 calories and you will lose two pounds.

Continue the calorie subtraction and in ten weeks you will be 20 pounds lighter. Or, you can reduce at a more leisurely rate and have 1,200 to 1,500 calories a day.

CHOOSE THE foods which furnish essential nutrients for they are the bargain calories.

Here is the list: Lean meat, fish and fowl, eggs, skim milk or buttermilk, cheese and cottage cheese; green and yellow vegetables, fruit, including a citrus fruit or juice, plus a limited amount of whole grain cereal or bread.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Columbus 'Stop' Eyed By Conrad On Honolulu Hop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus is one of 10 stops on the U.S. mainland that Max Conrad will make in his 7,000-mile flight from New York to Honolulu.

The "Flying Grandfather" is scheduled to complete the four-day flight next Monday, coinciding with the opening of the 1960 Christmas Seal campaign, which his air journey is intended to promote.

Lorain Council Seeks Action To Extend Jobless Benefits

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — City Council Monday night voted to ask Gov. Michael V. DiSalle to call a special session of the legislature to extend unemployment benefits beyond the present 26-week limit.

An emergency resolution proposing an immediate session of the legislature was approved unanimously after the Council read letters from officers of Local 1104 of the United Steelworkers Union. Eight thousand members of the local are employed at the Lorain works of the U.S. Steel Corp.'s National Tube Division.

Councilman Alex Olejko, a steelworker, said he was worried about the two months intervening before the legislature meets in regular session in January. He explained that unemployment benefits were needed by some of the steelworkers out of a job.

Mayor John C. Jaworski said he didn't think the unemployment situation was "real bad" now, but added that the situation might become critical between Thanksgiving and Christmas with the city's relief load overburdened.

"The extended benefits would carry the men at least until spring when they might find it easier to find a job," he said.

How TV Plans To Cover The Election

All sorts of grandiloquent announcements have deen emanating from the networks on the TV coverage of the election returns tonight, but we're not as impressed by the large efforts, the huge reportoria staffs, or the giant computers as we are by the reaction of a dyed - in - the - wool newspaperman after he viewed one network's preparations. He was overwhelmed! Quite a thing when you realize that newspapers and television have not been the easiest of bedfellows in the competitive world of communications.

Marie Torre

The television industry's vote-by-vote account of the complex election story will strive for three objectives: organization, dispatch and appreciation of television's visual requirements.

IT'S INTERESTING to note how each of the networks has been preparing to achieve these aims.

At CBS, for example, scientists from 16 state universities have been at work for more than a year at the task of pinning down "pointer" precincts, indicating the weight of labor votes, Catholic votes, etc.

Also a year ago, the network assigned four newsmen to the job of boning up on pertinent information from the various sectors of the country so they will be able to handle regional boards with haste and authority.

About 1,000 CBS commentators, reporters and technicians will tell the network's election story, a fully sponsored saga, incidentally.

CBS WILL HAVE election headquarters in every state capital (50), with a chief reporter in each studio and "satellite" reporters will phone information to state headquarters, which in turn will relay returns to Studio 65 in New York, where a battery of people will handle the calls, circumventing the wire services.

With the aid of a computer known as RAMAC 305, the returns will be calculated and tallied as they come in, while at International Business Machines headquarters in New York, the giant brain IBM 7090 will enable CBS to project the outcome of the elections with less than 1 per cent of the returns (some time between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m., possibly).

The setting for NBC's Election Night story will be Studio 8H, covering 9,000 square feet, in two decks, an area slightly larger than the infield of Yankee Stadium.

Personnel: 13 on-air reporters, 60 editors and newsmen, 235 engineers and some 1,000 additional newsmen in the field.

Chet Huntley and Dave Brinkley will move out of the tight booth they occupied at the conventions and onto the studio deck, overlooking the entire set.

The anchor men will be fed information from a house news wire (Supplementing the Associated Press and United Press information tickers) which will give not only facts and figures, but also short, human interest items.

In '56, NBC was criticized roundly for the small size of its mathematical data "a terrible eye strain," said one professional observer), but this year all numerals wi" be 3x2½ inches in size, allowing for easy reading.

NBC will rely on RCA 501 to project the presidential winner (with 5 per cent of the vote and 10 states reporting), while the American Broadcasting Co. will put its faith in Remington Rand Univac (computer - projector), and "tote" board (for the popular and electoral votes).

Like the other networks, ABC will have a reportorial staff in excess of 1000, some 300 of whom will keep anchor men John Daly and Qunicy Howe abreast of returns at New York headquarters.

Though each of the networks has sponsors for Election Night, it's not expected to be a profitable evening for any of them. Sponsorship is not even expected to cover their expenses, for the cost to each is estimated between $250,000 and $500,000, exclusive of time costs and assorted other times.

But the networks stand to "profit" in another way, notably in prestige. It's also surmised that never have the networks tackled a project of greater excitement and intrigue, most of it network made!

Board Agrees Tentatively On Land Price

The Board of Education gave tentative approval Monday night to an offer from the State Highway Department for a small tract of land near Westgate School needed for the city expressway.

No firm amount was fixed since it will hinge on the cost of replacing the present gas meter house, but the board agreed to accept the offer of $8,346 for the land, $500 for damage plus the cost of the new building.

It said it will formally ratify the agreement when confirmation of the offer is received from the highway department and a "friendly" appropriation suit is filed in Common Pleas Court.

Van J. Adamson, right - of - way supervisor for the department's Division 11 office at New Philadelphia, reiterated the offer of $8,346 for the 1.391 acres needed at a price of $6,000 per acre plus $500 for damages.

The figures were the same as those he submitted to the board at a special meeting Oct. 24.

However, at the special meeting the board turned over a contractor's estimate of $2,206 for the new meter house, but Adamson indicated last night the department believes the figure is high and the building can be built for less.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts explained the board would have to receive bids for the construction, but they would be worthless unless the building is constructed immediately, a project he indicated cannot be undertaken until the Ohio Valley Gas Co. relocates its 6-inch high pressure gas line.

Most contracting bids are only good for 30 days. If costs rise before the building is constructed, which may not be for six months or a year, the board would have to pay the difference, the superintendent explained.

Adamson said he could allow a difference for rising costs or the board can appeal the amount fixed in the appropriation suit and wait until the building is constructed before collecting its money.

The department also will reimburse the board for the cost of hooking its low pressure line from the school into the gas meter house, and pay the utility for the cost of relocating the high pressure line, Adamson said.

The tract includes all of the board's property east of the present W. 4th St. Ext. and a small strip just west of the roadway.

The ground is needed so the present roadway can be relocated to the west about 75 feet, clearing the way for a ramp onto the freeway for eastbound traffic from W. 8th St. The small strip is required to limit any access onto the freeway ramp, Adamson told the board.

Councilman Asks Halt

Refuse Fires Hit At Razed Houses

Councilman Robert Laughlin asked Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver and Fire Chief Charles Bryan Monday night to take steps to halt indiscriminate burning of refuse by private contractors razing homes in West End that are being removed from the freeway right-of-way.

"The people of the Fourth Ward are unhappy about the demolition of buildings for the freeway," Laughlin said. "They want assurance from the director and the chief that there will be no more fires."

LAUGHLIN declared there were "a couple of big fires last week."

Copenhaver replied that the fire chief issues permits for burning of trash and added that his office "has nothing to do with it."

"We had two fires down there last week, but neither person had a permit to burn," Chief Bryan told Laughlin. "When we do issue a permit, the fires must be supervised and they're not permitted to burn any tarpaper, linoleum or paper of any kind."

The department quelled the two unauthorized blazes last week, he added. Applications for such permits must be made at the fire station in person, not by telephone, he said.

The director was asked to investigate a complaint from Benjamin Ziegler of Ohio Ave., who said he is being "buried with ashes" placed on a street near his property by the street department.

He discussed his street problems for 15 minutes without making a specific request for action so Council President Charles Edwards interrupted to ask: "What do you want this Council to do?"

ZIEGLER replied that he wants the director to investigate his problem, so Council referred his request to Copenhaver.

The director also promised to investigate a request for information filed by Cecil Allison of Peake St. Allison said his mailbox is mounted alongside a flight of concrete steps on Peake St. He said a neighbor has told him to remove the box, claiming the steps are private property.

Allison said he wants to know if the steps are on private property or city-owned ground.

Council referred to the street committee a letter from R. E. Hoopes of Donora, asking when action will be taken on accepting a plat for the fourth addition to Fisher Park.

HOOPES, developer of the residential subdivision, filed the plat of the new addition with Council several weeks ago. In accepting a plat, Council dedicates the streets for public use and assumes the responsibility for their maintenance.

In his letter last night, Hoopes said he plans to open a 50-foot street between N. Surrey Rd. and S. Surrey Rd. On a motion from Councilman Donald Hancock, the letter was referred to the street committee, which already was investigating the request to accept the plat.

Two new bills against the city were referred to the claims committee.

Smith Scott of Railroad St. requested $57 for damage to his home which he said was caused when a storm drain in the street failed during a heavy rain and water flowed into the cellar through the windows and the foundation.

ROBERT TICE, 1073 St. George St., filed a claim for $50.49 for damage in the cellar of his grocery which he said was caused by water after the East End Run overflowed last summer. Laughlin, chairman, announced the claims committee will meet Thursday night at 7.

As the meeting closed, Hancock said all citizens "should exercise their right to vote" on election day. The meeting opened with invocation by Charles Taylor, pastor of the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene. Edwards expressed Council's appreciation to the Ministerial Association for assigning one of its members to give the opening prayer at each session.

Beaver Gridder Hurt; Boy And Man Injured

A Beaver Local High School football player, hurt in grid game, was admitted Monday to City Hospital where a Salineville boy and a city man were treated after separate mishaps.

Fred Woodburn, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brady Thompson of Calcutta, is in "fairly good" condition with a concussion suffered during a Beaver Local—Fairfield-Waterford reserve game.

Donovan Heiney, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Heiney, 106 Mill St., Salineville, was treated for an ankle injury received playing football.

Lifts Restrainer

CINCINNATI (AP)—Judge John Renner has lifted a common pleas court restrainer that stood for over a year and barred 15 Teamsters Union members from violence. He acted Monday at the request of attorneys for officials of Teamster Local 100 who said the 15 had learned to behave. The restrainer grew out of a union hall brawl July 29, 1959.

Council Splits, Delays Action To Close Alley

A 5-2 vote split allowed Council to give only the first of 3 required readings Monday night to an ordinance that would close a 275-foot section of Carroll Ln., an alley which parallels Montana and Dakota Aves. on Pleasant Heights.

Councilmen Donald Smith and Robert Laughlin cast dissenting votes, which meant the legislation fell one vote short of the number required for immediate passage under suspension of rules. Under normal procedure, it will be presented for action again at the meetings on Nov. 21 and Dec. 5.

Neither Smith nor Laughlin gave their reasons for dissenting at the time they cast their votes. However, in response to questions after the meeting adjourned, Smith said he was informed that at least one resident of the stretch would have easier access to his property during heavy winter snows if the section of Carroll Ln. were opened to travel. In addition, Smith said he feels the stretch should be opened for use of the fire department in emergencies.

Laughlin declined to comment on his "no" vote after the meeting.

Owners of abutting property asked Council months ago to close the stretch, explaining that it is dedicated for public use but never has been utilized except on rare occasions. Over the years, they converted the unused stretch into a grassy neighborhood picnic spot and playground, they said.

An opposition group from the same neighborhood argued Carroll Ln. should not be vacated. They said it is used on occasion by private cars and that it also should be opened for use of emergency vehicles and coal delivery trucks.

The stretch to be vacated runs from Sanford Ave. south to a point on the south line of Lot 6333. Council recieved an $11.09 bill from the Review for legal advertising of a formal notice of intent to vacate the alley. It was referred to Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate.

FBI Arrests Man In Akron Theft

CLEVELAND (AP)—Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation Monday night arrested James Milbry, 45, in connection with an armed robbery at Akron last month.

Milbry, taken into custody on a warrant for unlawful flight, was unarmed when arrested here, agents said.

Akron Patrolman Michael Goch, 34, was shot in the abdomen Oct. 24 when he tried to capture three men who got $200 from Donato Cianciola at a grocery warehouse.

Lonnie Hill, 50, and Matthew Gibson, 27, both of Cleveland, are held at Akron in connection with the shooting and Willie Jones, 37, of Cleveland, was arrested in Chicago last Friday.

Akron police said Gibson told them that Milbry, who has a record of arrests in Akron, assisted in the holdup as a finger man.

Burns Are Fatal

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An 8-year-old girl, who suffered first-and-second-degree burns over most of her body in her home last Thursday, died Monday in Children's Hospital. She was Yvonne Purnell. Police said she apparently was playing with matches when her clothing caught fire.

Youth In Theft Gets Detention

LISBON — A 17-year-old East Palestine youth was given a 4-month sentence in detention at the County Jail at a hearing for thefts Monday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin. Custody of three other East Palestine area youths, two 14 and one 16, was taken from their parents and given to the Columbiana County Welfare Department for the rest of the school term.

The four were in a car driven by the older youth which was stopped in a routine check by sheriff's patrol at 3:50 a. m. Sunday and Deputy James Gause found a gasoline can, siphoning hose and tools in the car.

In questioning the youths at the jail, deputies learned that the tools were stolen from the Sunnyside Coal Co. near East Palestine. They also admitted stealing a quantity of gasoline and car wheels and tires and one of the 14-year-olds implicated another in a burglary the two committed at the Raymond Jewell service station in Negley Oct. 2. They took ammunition, money, cigarettes, candy and gum.

All must make restitution for everything that has not been returned, Judge Tobin stipulated.

How TV Plans To Cover The Election

All sorts of grandiloquent announcements have deen emanating from the networks on the TV coverage of the election returns tonight, but we're not as impressed by the large efforts, the huge reportoria staffs, or the giant computers as we are by the reaction of a dyed - in - the - wool newspaperman after he viewed one network's preparations. He was overwhelmed! Quite a thing when you realize that newspapers and television have not been the easiest of bedfellows in the competitive world of communications.

Marie Torre

The television industry's vote-by-vote account of the complex election story will strive for three objectives: organization, dispatch and appreciation of television's visual requirements.

IT'S INTERESTING to note how each of the networks has been preparing to achieve these aims. •

At CBS, for example, scientists from 16 state universities have been at work for more than a year at the task of pinning down "pointer" precincts, indicating the weight of labor votes, Catholic votes, etc.

Also a year ago, the network assigned four newsmen to the job of boning up on pertinent information from the various sectors of the country so they will be able to handle regional boards with haste and authority.

About 1,000 CBS commentators, reporters and technicians will tell the network's election story, a fully sponsored saga, incidentally.

CBS WILL HAVE election headquarters in every state capital (50), with a chief reporter in each studio and "satellite" reporters will phone information to state headquarters, which in turn will relay returns to Studio 65 in New York, where a battery of people will handle the calls, circumventing the wire services.

With the aid of a computer known as RAMAC 305, the returns will be calculated and tallied as they come in, while at International Business Machines headquarters in New York, the giant brain IBM 7090 will enable CBS to project the outcome of the elections with less than 1 per cent of the returns (some time between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m., possibly).

The setting for NBC's Election Night story will be Studio 8H, covering 9,000 square feet, in two decks, an area slightly larger than the infield of Yankee Stadium.

Personnel: 13 on-air reporters, 60 editors and newsmen, 235 engineers and some 1,000 additional newsmen in the field.

Chet Huntley and Dave Brinkley will move out of the tight booth they occupied at the conventions and onto the studio deck, overlooking the entire set.

The anchor men will be fed information from a house news wire (Supplementing the Associated Press and United Press information tickers) which will give not only facts and figures, but also short, human interest items.

In '56, NBC was criticized roundly for the small size of its mathematical data "a terrible eye strain," said one professional observer), but this year all numerals wi" be 3x2½ inches in size, allowing for easy reading.

NBC will rely on RCA 501 to project the presidential winner (with 5 per cent of the vote and 10 states reporting), while the American Broadcasting Co. will put its faith in Remington Rand Univac (computer - projector) and "tote" board (for the popular and electoral votes).

Like the other networks, ABC will have a reportorial staff in excess of 1000, some 300 of whom will keep anchor men John Daly and Qunicy Howe abreast of returns at New York headquarters.

Though each of the networks has sponsors for Election Night, it's not expected to be a profitable evening for any of them. Sponsorship is not even expected to cover their expenses, for the cost to each is estimated between $250,000 and $500,000, exclusive of time costs and assorted other times.

But the networks stand to "profit" in another way, notably in prestige. It's also surmised that never have the networks tackled a project of greater excitement and intrigue, most of it network made!

THE SECURITY measures in and around NBC's studio 8H Election Central in Rockefeller Center, for example, are reminiscent of a way-back-when time when newshawks would buy and sell exclusives in the club car of the Orient Express, roaring through the Balkan night, with a body in Drawing Room B.

Board Agrees Tentatively On Land Price

The Board of Education gave tentative approval Monday night to an offer from the State Highway Department for a small tract of land near Westgate School needed for the city expressway.

No firm amount was fixed since it will hinge on the cost of replacing the present gas meter house, but the board agreed to accept the offer of $8,346 for the land, $500 for damage plus the cost of the new building.

It said it will formally ratify the agreement when confirmation of the offer is received from the highway department and a "friendly" appropriation suit is filed in Common Pleas Court.

Van J. Adamson, right - of - way supervisor for the department's Division 11 office at New Philadelphia, reiterated the offer of $8,346 for the 1.391 acres needed at a price of $6,000 per acre plus $500 for damages.

The figures were the same as those he submitted to the board at a special meeting Oct. 24.

However, at the special meeting the board turned over a contractor's estimate of $2,206 for the new meter house, but Adamson indicated last night the department believes the figure is high and the building can be built for less.

Supt. Ralph W. Betts explained the board would have to receive bids for the construction, but they would be worthless unless the building is constructed immediately, a project he indicated cannot be undertaken until the Ohio Valley Gas Co. relocates its 6-inch high pressure gas line.

Most contracting bids are only good for 30 days. If costs rise before the building is constructed, which may not be for six months or a year, the board would have to pay the difference, the superintendent explained.

Adamson said he could allow a difference for rising costs or the board can appeal the amount fixed in the appropriation suit and wait until the building is constructed before collecting its money.

The department also will reimburse the board for the cost of hooking its low pressure line from the school into the gas meter house, and pay the utility for the cost of relocating the high pressure line, Adamson said.

The tract includes all of the board's property east of the present W. 4th St. Ext. and a small strip just west of the roadway.

The ground is needed so the present roadway can be relocated to the west about 75 feet, clearing the way for a ramp onto the freeway for eastbound traffic from W. 8th St. The small strip is required to limit any access onto the freeway ramp, Adamson told the board.

Calcutta Neighborhood Scout Heads Invested

They received their pins from Mrs. Myers who was assisted by Mrs. Beth Dailey. Routine business followed. Refreshments were served.

Refuse Fires Hit At Razed Houses

Councilman Robert Laughlin asked Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver and Fire Chief Charles Bryan Monday night to take steps to halt indiscriminate burning of refuse by private contractors razing homes in West End that are being removed from the freeway right-of-way.

"The people of the Fourth Ward are unhappy about the demolition of buildings for the freeway," Laughlin said. "They want assurance from the director and the chief that there will be no more fires."

LAUGHLIN declared there were "a couple of big fires last week."

Copenhaver replied that the fire chief issues permits for burning of trash and added that his office "has nothing to do with it."

"We had two fires down there last week, but neither person had a permit to burn," Chief Bryan told Laughlin. "When we do issue a permit, the fires must be supervised and they're not permitted to burn any tarpaper, linoleum or paper of any kind."

The department quelled the two unauthorized blazes last week, he added. Applications for such permits must be made at the fire station in person, not by telephone, he said.

The director was asked to investigate a complaint from Benjamin Ziegler of Ohio Ave., who said he is being "buried with ashes" placed on a street near his property by the street department.

He discussed his street problems for 15 minutes without making a specific request for action so Council President Charles Edwards interrupted to ask: "What do you want this Council to do?"

ZIEGLER replied that he wants the director to investigate his problem, so Council referred his request to Copenhaver.

The director also promised to investigate a request for information filed by Cecil Allison of Peake St. Allison said his mailbox is mounted alongside a flight of concrete steps on Peake St. He said a neighbor has told him to remove the box, claiming the steps are private property.

Allison said he wants to know if the steps are on private property or city-owned ground.

Council referred to the street committee a letter from R. E. Hoopes of Donora, asking when action will be taken on accepting a plat for the fourth addition to Fisher Park.

HOOPES, developer of the residential subdivision, filed the plat of the new addition with Council several weeks ago. In accepting a plat, Council dedicates the streets for public use and assumes the responsibility for their maintenance.

In his letter last night, Hoopes said he plans to open a 50-foot street between N. Surrey Rd. and S. Surrey Rd. On a motion from Councilman Donald Hancock, the letter was referred to the street committee, which already was investigating the request to accept the plat.

Two new bills against the city were referred to the claims committee.

Smith Scott of Railroad St. requested $57 for damage to his home which he said was caused when a storm drain in the street failed during a heavy rain and water flowed into the cellar through the windows and the foundation.

ROBERT TICE, 1073 St. George St., filed a claim for $50.49 for damage in the cellar of his grocery which he said was caused by water after the East End Run overflowed last summer. Laughlin, chairman, announced the claims committee will meet Thursday night at 7.

As the meeting closed, Hancock said all citizens "should exercise their right to vote" on election day. The meeting opened with invocation by Charles Taylor, pastor of the Gardendale Church of the Nazarene. Edwards expressed Council's appreciation to the Ministerial Association for assigning one of its members to give the opening prayer at each session.

Beaver Gridder Hurt; Boy And Man Injured

A Beaver Local High School football player, hurt in grid game, was admitted Monday to City Hospital where a Salineville boy and a city man were treated after separate mishaps.

Fred Woodburn, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brady Thompson of Calcutta, is in "fairly good" condition with a concussion suffered during a Beaver Local—Fairfield-Waterford reserve game.

Donovan Heiney, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Heiney, 106 Mill St., Salineville, was treated for an ankle injury received playing football.

Lifts Restrainer

CINCINNATI (AP)—Judge John Renner has lifted a common pleas court restrainer that stood for over a year and barred 15 Teamsters Union members from violence. He acted Monday at the request of attorneys for officials of Teamster Local 100 who said the 15 had learned to behave. The restrainer grew out of a union hall brawl July 29, 1959.

Council Splits, Delays Action To Close Alley

A 5-2 vote split allowed Council to give only the first of 3 required readings Monday night to an ordinance that would close a 275-foot section of Carroll Ln., an alley which parallels Montana and Dakota Aves. on Pleasant Heights.

Councilmen Donald Smith and Robert Laughlin cast dissenting votes, which meant the legislation fell one vote short of the number required for immediate passage under suspension of rules. Under normal procedure, it will be presented for action again at the meetings on Nov. 21 and Dec. 5.

Neither Smith nor Laughlin gave their reasons for dissenting at the time they cast their votes. However, in response to questions after the meeting adjourned, Smith said he was informed that at least one resident of the stretch would have easier access to his property during heavy winter snows if the section of Carroll Ln. were opened to travel. In addition, Smith said he feels the stretch should be opened for use of the fire department in emergencies.

Laughlin declined to comment on his "no" vote after the meeting.

Owners of abutting property asked Council months ago to close the stretch, explaining that it is dedicated for public use but never has been utilized except on rare occasions. Over the years, they converted the unused stretch into a grassy neighborhood picnic spot and playground, they said.

An opposition group from the same neighborhood argued Carroll Ln. should not be vacated. They said it is used on occasion by private cars and that it also should be opened for use of emergency vehicles and coal delivery trucks.

The stretch to be vacated runs from Sanford Ave. south to a point on the south line of Lot 6333. Council recieved an $11.09 bill from the Review for legal advertising of a formal notice of intent to vacate the alley. It was referred to Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate.

FBI Arrests Man In Akron Theft

CLEVELAND (AP)—Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation Monday night arrested James Milbry, 45, in connection with an armed robbery at Akron last month.

Milbry, taken into custody on a warrant for unlawful flight, was unarmed when arrested here, agents said.

Akron Patrolman Michael Goch, 34, was shot in the abdomen Oct. 24 when he tried to capture three men who got $200 from Donato Cianciola at a grocery warehouse.

Lonnie Hill, 50, and Matthew Gibson, 27, both of Cleveland, are held at Akron in connection with the shooting and Willie Jones, 37, of Cleveland, was arrested in Chicago last Friday.

Akron police said Gibson told them that Milbry, who has a record of arrests in Akron, assisted in the holdup as a finger man.

Burns Are Fatal

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An 8-year-old girl, who suffered first-and-second-degree burns over most of her body in her home last Thursday, died Monday in Children's Hospital. She was Yvonne Purnell. Police said she apparently was playing with matches when her clothing caught fire.

Youth In Theft Gets Detention

LISBON — A 17-year-old East Palestine youth was given a 4-month sentence in detention at the County Jail at a hearing for thefts Monday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin. Custody of three other East Palestine area youths, two 14 and one 16, was taken from their parents and given to the Columbiana County Welfare Department for the rest of the school term.

The four were in a car driven by the older youth which was stopped in a routine check by sheriff's patrol at 3:50 a. m. Sunday and Deputy James Gause found a gasoline can, siphoning hose and tools in the car.

In questioning the youths at the jail, deputies learned that the tools were stolen from the Sunnyside Coal Co. near East Palestine. They also admitted stealing a quantity of gasoline and car wheels and tires and one of the 14-year-olds implicated another in a burglary the two committed at the Raymond Jewell service station in Negley Oct. 2. They took ammunition, money, cigarettes, candy and gum.

All must make restitution for everything that has not been returned, Judge Tobin stipulated.

Bruno Builds Fast ...

Thirty-two years went by the boards before Larry Bruno, the former East Liverpool grid star, appeared on the scene at Beaver Falls to lead the high school to its first WPIAL football championship.

It happened Friday night and Beaver Falls resembled Pittsburgh on Oct. 13 when the Pirates won the World Series. The town went wild.

While Beaver Falls was defeating Ellwood City 26-0, Monessen, the other chief contender for the title, was being upset by McKeesport, 26-13.

So Bruno's team walked off with the crown without having to meet Monessen in a playoff.

Larry will be ready to come back next year for another shot at the title. He has most of his backfield returning, but must find a quarterback who can replace Joe Namath, who has been tabbed "the magician with a football."

After coaching at Monaca High School for several seasons, Bruno moved up to the Beaver Falls post in 1959. Taking a bunch of sophomores and juniors, he started building and came up with a finished product ahead of schedule.

It was a job well done. Congratulations Larry.

It's All-Ohio Time ...

ALL-OHIO ballots from the Associated Press are in the hands of sports editors. The ballot deadline is Nov. 19 and the teams won't be announced until a week or more after that.

All-state teams put us on the spot, but following are the gridders we feel deserve recognition:

EAST LIVERPOOL — Kenny Cunningham and Skip Hall. Cunningham's statistics speak for themselves. The Potter quarterback is only 19 yards away from breaking Bernie Allen's school passing mark. His percentage of completions is an outstanding .550. He has thrown for 10 touchdowns and scored 7 others himself.

On the All-Ohio ballots there are offensive and defensive teams. In our opinion, Cunningham could do well either one. He has been averaging between 11 and 15 tackles a game.

Hall, a 185-pound tackle, has been hampered by injuries off and on during the season, but stays in the lineup regardless and does a bang-up job both ways for the Potters.

WELLSVILLE — The Tigers, completing their second winning season, have three boys who deserve some type of recognition in the balloting.

Roger Ours, quarterback, is the team's leading scorer and ground gainer. He has tallied 78 points and tossed four touchdown passes. A junior, Ours has another year of high school competition.

BEAVER LOCAL — Ron McLaughlin has been outstanding this season. He's the district's leading scorer with 116 points, having crossed the goal line in every but the West Branch game.

McLaughlin also has been an accurate passer and punter. He's an all-around choice.

SALEM—The Quakers have two outstanding gridders. Ron Janovec, the 200-pound fullback, rates a spot somewhere on the All-Ohio list. Although East Liverpool did a fine job of defensing the Quaker star, his performance over the season speaks for itself.

Don Davidson, who we thought would be an outstanding offensive threat as a pass-catching end, has developed into a topnotch defensive man. Salem does not have the passer, but Davidson merits consideration on the defensive team.

LEETONIA—The Leetonia Bears have had rough sailing this season, but their defensive game has been outstanding and one of the main reasons is Joe Sevenich, a rock-boned defensive linebacker who makes about 60 per cent of the stops for his team.

If anyone is deserving of a defensive post it's Sevenich. We support him strongly.

EAST PALESTINE — Two candidates head the list from East Palestine. Jim Wisser has been the team's leading ground gainer after missing a contest due to injuries earlier this season. Wisser comes highly recommended by his coach.

The other is Jerry Bush, the team's leading scorer with 74.

Lisbon Back Gains Ground ...

RICK BOWLING of Lisbon made the big jump in the district scoring parade this week, but Bob Brown's four touchdowns for Wellsville against Beaver Local was the outstanding feat.

In his last three games, McPherson has tossed for six touchdowns and they all have been to Bowling.

One touchdown against Wellsville shoved Ron McLaughlin's total to 116 for the season and with only one game to go for most district teams it seems he has the district scoring title pretty well wrapped up.

Russell Is Top Fla. Candidate ...

An agile, 146-pounder, Russell has drawn plenty of priase from the school's coaching staff and Gainesville sports scribes for his outstanding running and passing this season.

Russell scored a touchdown against the Auburn freshmen recently on a two-yard sneak, but carried for most of the yardage on a 79 yard drive which led to the score.

He was a flashy quarterback last season for former Coach John Petchel of Midland.

Russell was named the most valuable player for the Pennsylvania team in the first annual Penn-Ohio All-Star game played at East Liverpool in July.

POTTERS BEWARE. Charley King, Alliance High's star halfback, tallied six touchdowns against Steubenville last Friday and now leads Stark County scorers with 128 points. East Liverpool meets Alliance on Nov. 18.

YOUNGSTOWN RAYEN, an earlier opponent of the Potters, can clinch the City Series Championship of Youngstown Saturday with a victory over East. Rayen has won 7 straight since a loss in its first game of the season.

THE POTTER football team was feted at a steak dinner Monday night by Dick Forzano, manager of the Travelers Hotel. About 50 were served, including members of the coaching staff.

Miller, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Miller, 624 Main St. A senior at Wellsville High School he is a football manager, member of the Key Club and a badminton player.

Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Williams, 1741 Buckeye Ave., is a ninth grader at Daw Junior High School and a member of the freshman football team. He has played Little League Baseball and was a member of the Babe Ruth League the past summer. He also is a student council representative.

PAT FINN, 19, of Hallandale, Fla., a coed at Florida State University, has been selected as the 1961 Orange Bowl Queen. The green-eyed beauty was selected from a field of 25 finalists at the annual pageant. (UPI Telephoto)

Two Brothers Mixed Up As Top Lineman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Brother combinations sometimes cause mixups and it happened Monday when the Big Five Conference announced Joe Bauwens of UCLA as its lineman of the week. It should have been brother Steve.

The two linemen from Rock Island, Ill., were both starters for the Bruins as they beat California 28-0 and both played outstanding games. But it was Steve, a 213-pound junior at left tackle, who was voted the outstanding lineman and later honored as the conference lineman of the week.

However, the conference announcement came out Joe and it wasn't until later Monday that UCLA noted the error. Joe, a 210-pound sophomore, started at right tackle.

Fete Set Thursday For Wellsville Squad

The Wellsville High School Athletic Association will fete the Tiger football squad Thursday at 5:30 p. m. in the school cafeteria. An informal dinner is planned, Don Lowe, faculty manager, said.

East Junior West Tilt On Wednesday

East Junior High and Westgate will finally get together Wednesday to decide the City Junior High football championship. Kickoff is set for 4 p. m. at Patterson Field.

Here's District Grid Schedule This Week

Friday

Wellsville at Leetonia
New Cumberland at Chester
Lisbon at Canton-Jackson
Stanton Local at Springfield
Beaver Local at Northwest
East Palestine at Columbiana
Salem at Girard
Fairfield-Waterford at McDonald

Saturday

East Liverpool at Canton Central.

The game has been postponed twice. Scheduled for last Saturday, officials called the game off because of rain. It was rescheduled for Monday but a conflict in schedules moved the game to Wednesday.

Westgate enters the contest undefeated with a 5-0 record while East Junior is 4-1 for the season, losing its opener, then gaining four straight victories.

Outfielder Vada Pinson stole 32 bases for the Cincinnati Reds last season. He hit 20 homers and batted .287.

Dispute Over Sale Of Athletics Will Continue In Court

CHICAGO (AP) — Hearings in the dispute over the possible sale of the Kansas City Athletics' baseball club have been continued until Thursday by Probate Judge Robert J. Dunne.

Judge Dunne, however, ruled Monday that the Cook County Probate Court has jurisdiction in the case involving the co-executors of the will of the late Arnold Johnson, who owned 52 per cent of the ball club.

Johnson's remarried widow, Mrs. Warren M. Humes of New York, does not want to sell the stock. She says she wants her son, Jeffrey Johnson, 10, eventually to become owner of the team.

The City National Bank of Chicago, co-executor with Mrs. Humes, wants to sell the stock in order to pay $1.5 million in debts and taxes on the estate of Johnson, who died last March 10.

Offers of $3.5 million have been made for the stock by interested groups in Kansas City and St. Louis.

Pittsburgh Pitcher's Wife Has Baby Girl

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A six-pound, 11-ounce girl has been born to the wife of Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher Bob Friend.

The girl, Mary Ellen, was born Sunday. She is the Friends' first child.

FIGHT RESULTS

New York—Eddie Jordan, 144¾, Brooklyn, stopped Ronnie Cohen, 143¾, New Rochelle, N. Y., 2.

Steelers' Place-Kick Specialist Sidelined

PITTSBIRGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers probably will have to do without the services of place-kicking Bert Rechichar against the New York Giants Sunday.

Rechichar suffered a torn leg muscle last Sunday against the Philadelphia Eagles. He was admitted to Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Fullback Larry Krutko and halfback Rex Johnston, who missed the Eagle game because of leg injuries, also are expected to be on the sidelines for the New York game.

Graham To Head Sportsmen's Club

Carl Graham of Chester was elected president of the Chester-Newell Farmers and Sportsmen's Club at a meeting Monday night at the clubhouse in Gas Valley. He succeeds George Whittaker.

Others named were Paul Johnston, vice president, and Lester Lutton, secretary-treasurer. Ira VanFossan and Harley Freeman was named trustees. All are from Chester.

The club authorized closing of club grounds to running of dogs Nov. 25-26 to permit deer hunters to zero in rifles.

About 30 attended. The next meeting will be Dec. 5 at the Chester City Hall.

Charger End Named AFL's Defensive Star

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—End Ron Nery of the Los Angeles Chargers today was named the American Football League's defensive player of the week.

Massillon First By Slim Margin

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high schools were involved today in the most wide-open race in history for the state's scholastic football championship.

Five teams, only one of them unbeaten, were in position to take the title in the stretch drive—with defending champion Massillon leading the way by a narrow margin.

The Stark County Tigers, after clobbering Toledo Waite 56-14 last weekend, led the Associated Press poll by only five points—equal to a single sixth-place vote under the 10-9-8-etc. basis.

With 41 sports editors casting ballots, the champs led neighboring Alliance 285 to 280 in poll points. Sandusky, with 15 first-place nods and the only unsullied record in the top quintet, was only 24 points off the pace. Lima Senior, nosed out 22-21 by Springfield South last Friday, was fourth with 212, and Springfield's twice-beaten Wildcats were next with 197.

The second echelon in the Top Ten appeared out of it. Cincinnati Roger Bacon was sixth with 86, three ahead of Marion Harding which was belted 40-14 by an aroused Fremont Ross club. Next, with only a single poll point separating them, were Niles McKinley, Cincinnati Purcell and Toledo Central, each with 70-odd points.

Four of last week's Top Ten were beaten. Lima and Marion survived the setbacks to stay in the elite list, but Salem, 8-6 victim of East Liverpool, and Warren Harding, 44-14 loser to Sharon, Pa., fell by the wayside. Warren's one-sided loss came just a week after the Panthers' startling win over Massillon.

As the Quakers and Panthers dropped out, Purcell and Toledo Central moved in.

From here and there: Among the unbeaten teams, with nine wins, are Sandusky, Wooster, Fremont St. Joe, Crooksville, West Milton, Urbana and Covington. With eight in a row are Cincinnati Purcell, Euclid St. Joseph, Dayton Colonel White, Shelby, Cardington, Butler, Bridgeport, Martins Ferry and Dillonvale.

No team has come within 36 points of Dayton Colonel White, which has outscored eight opponents 458 to 26. Last week Colonel White handed Dayton Roosevelt its first setback, 42-0. The week before Roosevelt had defeated Chaminade 30-14—the team which in three straight weeks defeated Kettering Fairmont, Toledo St. Francis and Springfield while all were in the Top Ten.

Fremont Ross, ripped 76-6 by Marion Harding a year ago, avenged it 40-14 for Harding's first loss. Marion had allowed seven previous foes only 30 points. And Dillonvale, beaten 62-0 by Brilliant in 1959, turned the tables by 40-0 as Rich Gatchel pushed his scoring total to 130 with two touchdowns and four extra points.

The week's big scorer was Alliance's fabulous Charley King who scored six touchdowns and gained 346 yards in the 54-38 win over Steubenville. He now has 128 for the campaign. It was Steubenville's biggest score in a losing effort. The Aviators, 1958 state champs, run into a rugged test this week as they go against unbeaten Niles. They tied 12-12 last year. Alliance coach Mel Knowlton will be after his 102nd Aviator victory.

Crooksville, Muskingum Valley League champ, is unbeaten in 25 straight. Howard fullback Bob Berry tallied 22 points to run his season total to 132 in the 58-0 win over Marengo. Ashland, after wading through seven games with only one tie to comfort the Arrows, defeated Dayton Belmont 28-8. And Loudonville's Redbirds hit the win column for the first time, 20-6 over Millersburg.

Martins Ferry puts a 19-game winning streak on the line against unbeaten Bridgeport this week in a big Ohio River clash. Shelby won the Northern Ohio League title for the ninth time in 17 years, making it eight straight for the season with a 16-12 win over hitherto unbeaten Norwalk.

Jeromesville, a six-man outfit, ventured into the eight-man field and saw its 24-game streak shattered 28-20 by Caledonia. A 17-yard field goal by Pete Beinkampen, with only four seconds to go, gave Wheelersburg a 3-0 victory over Portsmouth Notre Dame.

Tickets On Sale For Bernie Allen Fete

Tickets for the Bernie Allen Night sponsored by Elks Lodge 258, are on sale at the following business places: Reark's, Heimie's. Frank Diamond's, Burbick's, Head Pin Bowling Alley and Billingsley Grocery in Calcutta. The committee will meet Wednesday at 7:30 in the Grille Room of the Elks Lodge. The buffet dinner will be held Nov. 25.

Here's How Voting Went For Ohio Teams

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here's how 41 sports editors, 29 from newspapers and 12 from radio-television stations, rate Ohio's high school football teams this week. Shown are the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis, and the won-lost-tied and scoring records of the leaders.

College NCAA Ring Champs Drop Boxing

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The already staggering collegiate boxing program took another body blow with the announcement that San Jose State, the NCAA champion the past three years, won't compete in the sport this season.

Blue And White Club To Meet Tonight At 8

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club will meet tonight at 8 in the YMCA. Tickets for the East Liverpool-Canton Central football game Saturday night in Canton will be available for purchase. Movies of the Salem-Potter game will be screened by Coach Lou Venditti.

"Since we won our third straight championship last spring, Wisconsin and Sacramento State have given up the sport," he said. In recent years we have engaged these schools in dual meets at least twice each season. When they dropped out, we found that there were not enough schools remaining who compete in boxing on a major basis to give us a schedule."

College boxing has been near collapse in recent years. Wisconsin's faculty voted last May 9 to give up the sport. Its action followed less than a month the death of Charles Mohr of the Wisconsin team who suffered a brain injury in an NCAA title bout with San Jose's Stu Bartell on April 9.

McPherson said the San Jose athletic department still believes boxing is "an excellent sport as conducted on our campus and that it has a definite place in our physical education program."

RICK BOWLING of Lisbon made the big jump in the district scoring parade this week, but Bob Brown's four touchdowns for Wellsville against Beaver Local was the outstanding feat.

Bowling skyrocketed from fourth to second place in one night. The Lisbon halfback tallied three touchdowns against Columbiana. This pushed his total to 82, four more than Wellsville's Ours.

In his last three games, McPherson has tossed for six touchdowns and they all have been to Bowling.

One touchdown against Wellsville shoved Ron McLaughlin's total to 116 for the season and with only one game to go for most district teams it seems he has the district scoring title pretty well wrapped up.

Russell Is Top Fla. Candidate ...

An agile, 146-pounder, Russell has drawn plenty of priase from the school's coaching staff and Gainesville sports scribes for his outstanding running and passing this season.

"He's a good passer and we expect great things from him," commented one freshman mentor. A sports writer pointed out that Russell "is lightning fast, a good passer, particularly adept on the roll-out pass."

Russell scored a touchdown against the Auburn freshmen recently on a two-yard sneak, but carried for most of the yardage on a 79 yard drive which led to the score.

He was a flashy quarterback last season for former Coach John Petchel of Midland.

Russell was named the most valuable player for the Pennsylvania team in the first annual Penn-Ohio All-Star game played at East Liverpool in July.

Two Brothers Mixed Up As Top Lineman

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Brother combinations sometimes cause mixups and it happened Monday when the Big Five Conference announced Joe Bauwens of UCLA as its lineman of the week. It should have been brother Steve.

The two linemen from Rock Island, Ill., were both starters for the Bruins as they beat California 28-0 and both played outstanding games. But it was Steve, a 213-pound junior at left tackle, who was voted the outstanding lineman and later honored as the conference lineman of the week.

However, the conference announcement came out Joe and it wasn't until later Monday that UCLA noted the error. Joe, a 210-pound sophomore, started at right tackle.

Dispute Over Sale Of Athletics Will Continue In Court

CHICAGO (AP) — Hearings in the dispute over the possible sale of the Kansas City Athletics' baseball club have been continued until Thursday by Probate Judge Robert J. Dunne.

Judge Dunne, however, ruled Monday that the Cook County Probate Court has jurisdiction in the case involving the co-executors of the will of the late Arnold Johnson, who owned 52 per cent of the ball club.

Johnson's remarried widow, Mrs. Warren M. Humes of New York, does not want to sell the stock. She says she wants her son, Jeffrey Johnson, 10, eventually to become owner of the team.

The City National Bank of Chicago, co-executor with Mrs. Humes, wants to sell the stock in order to pay $1.5 million in debts and taxes on the estate of Johnson, who died last March 10.

Offers of $3.5 million have been made for the stock by interested groups in Kansas City and St. Louis.

Fullback Larry Krutko and halfback Rex Johnston, who missed the Eagle game because of leg injuries, also are expected to be on the sidelines for the New York game.

Massillon First By Slim Margin

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high schools were involved today in the most wide-open race in history for the state's scholastic football championship.

Five teams, only one of them unbeaten, were in position to take the title in the stretch drive—with defending champion Massillon leading the way by a narrow margin.

The Stark County Tigers, after clobbering Toledo Waite 56-14 last weekend, led the Associated Press poll by only five points—equal to a single sixth-place vote under the 10-9-8-etc. basis.

With 41 sports editors casting ballots, the champs led neighboring Alliance 285 to 280 in poll points. Sandusky, with 15 first-place nods and the only unsullied record in the top quintet, was only 24 points off the pace. Lima Senior, nosed out 22-21 by Springfield South last Friday, was fourth with 212, and Springfield's twice-beaten Wildcats were next with 197.

The second echelon in the Top Ten appeared out of it. Cincinnati Roger Bacon was sixth with 86, three ahead of Marion Harding which was belted 40-14 by an aroused Fremont Ross club. Next, with only a single poll point separating them, were Niles McKinley, Cincinnati Purcell and Toledo Central, each with 70-odd points.

Four of last week's Top Ten were beaten. Lima and Marion survived the setbacks to stay in the elite list, but Salem, 8-6 victim of East Liverpool, and Warren Harding, 44-14 loser to Sharon, Pa., fell by the wayside. Warren's one-sided loss came just a week after the Panthers' startling win over Massillon.

As the Quakers and Panthers dropped out, Purcell and Toledo Central moved in.

From here and there: Among the unbeaten teams, with nine wins, are Sandusky, Wooster, Fremont St. Joe, Crooksville, West Milton, Urbana and Covington. With eight in a row are Cincinnati Purcell, Euclid St. Joseph, Dayton Colonel White, Shelby, Cardington, Butler, Bridgeport, Martins Ferry and Dillonvale.

No team has come within 36 points of Dayton Colonel White, which has outscored eight opponents 458 to 26. Last week Colonel White handed Dayton Roosevelt its first setback, 42-0. The week before Roosevelt had defeated Chaminade 30-14—the team which in three straight weeks defeated Kettering Fairmont, Toledo St. Francis and Springfield while all were in the Top Ten.

Fremont Ross, ripped 76-6 by Marion Harding a year ago, avenged it 40-14 for Harding's first loss. Marion had allowed seven previous foes only 30 points. And Dillonvale, beaten 62-0 by Brilliant in 1959, turned the tables by 40-0 as Rich Gatchel pushed his scoring total to 130 with two touchdowns and four extra points.

The week's big scorer was Alliance's fabulous Charley King who scored six touchdowns and gained 346 yards in the 54-38 win over Steubenville. He now has 128 for the campaign. It was Steubenville's biggest score in a losing effort. The Aviators, 1958 state champs, run into a rugged test this week as they go against unbeaten Niles. They tied 12-12 last year. Alliance coach Mel Knowlton will be after his 102nd Aviator victory.

Crooksville, Muskingum Valley League champ, is unbeaten in 25 straight. Howard fullback Bob Berry tallied 22 points to run his season total to 132 in the 58-0 win over Marengo. Ashland, after wading through seven games with only one tie to comfort the Arrows, defeated Dayton Belmont 28-8. And Loudonville's Redbirds hit the win column for the first time, 20-6 over Millersburg.

Martins Ferry puts a 19-game winning streak on the line against unbeaten Bridgeport this week in a big Ohio River clash. Shelby won the Northern Ohio League title for the ninth time in 17 years, making it eight straight for the season with a 16-12 win over hitherto unbeaten Norwalk.

Jeromesville, a six-man outfit, ventured into the eight-man field and saw its 24-game streak shattered 28-20 by Caledonia. A 17-yard field goal by Pete Beinkampen, with only four seconds to go, gave Wheelersburg a 3-0 victory over Portsmouth Notre Dame.

Here's How Voting Went For Ohio Teams

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here's how 41 sports editors, 29 from newspapers and 12 from radio-television stations, rate Ohio's high school football teams this week. Shown are the poll points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis, and the won-lost-tied and scoring records of the leaders.

College NCAA Ring Champs Drop Boxing

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The already staggering collegiate boxing program took another body blow with the announcement that San Jose State, the NCAA champion the past three years, won't compete in the sport this season.

Blue And White Club To Meet Tonight At 8

The Blue and White Nonpareil Club will meet tonight at 8 in the YMCA. Tickets for the East Liverpool-Canton Central football game Saturday night in Canton will be available for purchase. Movies of the Salem-Potter game will be screened by Coach Lou Venditti.

"Since we won our third straight championship last spring, Wisconsin and Sacramento State have given up the sport," he said. In recent years we have engaged these schools in dual meets at least twice each season. When they dropped out, we found that there were not enough schools remaining who compete in boxing on a major basis to give us a schedule."

College boxing has been near collapse in recent years. Wisconsin's faculty voted last May 9 to give up the sport. Its action followed less than a month the death of Charles Mohr of the Wisconsin team who suffered a brain injury in an NCAA title bout with San Jose's Stu Bartell on April 9.

McPherson said the San Jose athletic department still believes boxing is "an excellent sport as conducted on our campus and that it has a definite place in our physical education program."

Minnesota Roars Into First Place Among College Powers

Iowa Slips To 5th Spot; Mules 2nd

By The Associated Press

The five teams of The Associated Press top 10 who escaped unscathed on "Black Saturday" last week possibly are a little apprehensive today.

If it could happen once—the defeat of five leaders in the weekly poll on one day—it could happen again, and several of the clubs in the select circle this week face rugged opposition.

Top-ranking Minnesota, for one. The Golden Gophers meet unranked Purdue, a much better team than its record indicates. Mississippi, No. 4 now, meets also unranked Tennessee, which last week, before its setback at the hands of Georgia Tech, was a member of the top 10.

Minnesota took over the No. 1 spot by virtue of its decisive, 27-10 victory over Iowa, previously the No. 1 team.. The Hawkeyes were dropped to fifth place in the voting by a 48-man panel of sports writers and sportscasters taking part in the poll. It was the Gophers' seventh straight victory.

Ohio State jumped from fifth to third by walloping Indiana, and Mississippi climbed from sixth to fourth with an easy victory over Chattanooga.

Three of the top 10 losers last week — Tennessee, Syracuse and Rice—were dropped from the list in this week's voting. Only Iowa and Navy, which lost to Duke stayed in the select circle. Navy is No. 8.

Duke, Arkansas and Auburn replaced the three ousted top 10 members. Washington advanced to No. 6 by whomping Southern California, a victory that practically clinches a Rose Bowl place.

Minnesota received 40 of the first place votes. Unbeaten Missouri, No. 2, received four, and Ohio State, Mississippi and Washington one each.

The leaders (first place votes in parentheses) points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1.	Minnesota (40)	462
2.	Missouri (4)	387
3.	Ohio State (1)	335
4.	Mississippi (1)	310
5.	Iowa	279
6.	Washington (1)	241
7.	Duke	156
8.	Navy	113
9.	Arkansas	72
10.	Auburn	64

Others receiving votes were: UCLA 38, Pittsburgh 31, Michigan State 16, Tennessee 15, New Mexico State 10, Rice 9, Yale 8, Syracuse 8, Utah State 7, Florida 6, Alabama 3, Texas, Kansas 3, Oregon 2, Michigan 1, Army 1.

Injured Race Driver Shows Improvement

The Los Angeles driver suffered a vertebra fracture when his 1,000-horsepower hydroplane challenger bounced into the air as it hit a wave during a preliminary to next weekend's Gold Cup races.

Dr. John Connolly said Thompson can move his toes, but his legs have no feeling.

"He will have to remain hospitalized at least two weeks, and it will be a while before we know if the paralysis is to clear up," the doctor said.

Huskies Fans Seek Rose Bowl Tickets

SEATTLE (AP) — As far as Washington fans are concerned, the Husky football team already has been picked for the Rose Bowl.

Applications for bowl tickets have been flowing in to the university in increasing numbers, especially since the Huskies' 34-0 win over USC Saturday. Washington's current-record is 7-1.

However, the applicants will have to wait some time yet. Officials said no tickets for the Jan. 2 classic will be issued until the Big Five Conference's entry is decided.

Houston Boasts AFL's 2 Top Ball Carriers

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Houston, the Eastern Division leader of the American Football League, boasts the AFL's top two ball carriers in Dave Smith and Billy Cannon.

Smith has gained 492 yards on 97 carries for a 5.1 average. Cannon, in 87 trips, has picked up 422 yards for a 4.9 average.

State Ruling Restricts Early Football Practice

The Board of Education Monday night instructed Supt. Ralph W. Betts to write the Potters Ladies Boosters Club that it is restricted by state law from considering the club's recommendation that the final period in a school day be changed to a study period so football players can begin practice earlier.

The club, in a letter to the board and superintendent, said it recommended the sixth period be changed to a study period for football players "after careful study and consideration."

Betts told the board the 1957 Ohio High School standards lists the coaching of scholastic athletic teams on school time or in physical education classes as one of the activities disapproved.

A check with the State Department of Education showed about 75 per cent of Ohio schools follow the ruling, including the majority in this area. Some, including a few in this area, do not abide by the ruling, he said.

Betts said local school officials were unaware of the ruling until some 18 months after it went into effect.

He also told the board some 30 high school boys are beseiging the school for a wrestling coach.

Merill Hall, athletic director, volunteered as a coach for this year to serve until a successor to Lou Venditti could be obtained. Venditti resigned the post sometime ago.

However, Betts said Hall must undergo a heel operation and will be idled for at least six weeks. He said he is continuing a search to find a staff member who will serve until after the Christmas vacation.

Mountie Coach Lauds Senior Quarterback

MORGANTOWN (AP)—Football coach Gene Corum had high praise today for Carmen Pomponio, a senior quarterback who has played only a few times on offense for West Virginia University.

Corum termed the 185-pounder's performance "excellent" and added "He could play on any team." Pomponio, recently named a co-captain for the remainder of the season, recovered two of Boston University's three fumbles in Saturday's 7-7 tie at Mountaineer Stadium.

Corum plans to take 35 players to Portland for Saturday's game against Oregon. WVU will put its 0-6-2 record against Oregon's 5-2 mark.

Since the Mountaineers will miss one day of practice Thursday while flying across the country, they went through a heavier than usual first-of-the-week practice session yesterday.

Albert Almanza, a member of Mexico's 1960 Olympic basketball team, is back playing for the University of Texas quintet. He averaged 10.8 points with the Longhorns last season.

OSU Fullback Ups Big 10 Point Lead

CHICAGO (AP)—Fullback Bob Ferguson of Ohio State stretched his Big Ten all-games football scoring lead this week, upping his advantage over Iowa's Wilburn Hollis to 12 points.

Ferguson scored once against Indiana for a total of 11 touchdowns and 66 points while Hollis, a quarterback, was blanked by Minnesota and has 9 touchdowns for 54 points.

Minnesota's Jim Rogers is third with 47 points on a variety of touchdowns, field goals and extra points. Bernie Allen of Purdue, also a diversified scorer, is fourth with 43 points.

Then come Minnesota's Sandy Stephens, 42; Purdue's Jim Tiller and Michigan's Dave Raimey, 36 each, and Ohio's Bob Klein, 32.

In Game At Iowa City

Ohio State Expects Iowa To Rebound On Saturday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State expects to find Iowa, which surrendered the Big Ten lead last Saturday, on a booming rebound in their nationally televised football clash at Iowa City Saturday.

"Iowa has a scatter-gun offense built around the winged-T," Buckeye scout Gene Slaughter said of the Hawkeyes, who lost to front-running Minnesota Saturday 27-10. Slaughter, who scouted Iowa against Purdue, Kansas and Minnesota, said, "You never know where they're going to hit you, and their backfield is the fastest I've seen in the Big Ten. Wilburn Hollis, the quarterback who likes to run on the rollout, is a big 200-pound take-charge guy who makes offense click."

While Iowa—rated No. 1 in the nation last week—was bowing to Minnesota, Ohio State whipped Indiana 36-7 in a Western Conference game that didn't count because of the Hoosiers' probation for recruiting violations.

In that game, the Buckeye varsity sat out the second half, and coach Woody Hayes said at his weekly press luncheon Monday that "you don't learn much football sitting on the bench. So the first two strings will don pads today (Monday), which is unusual, and we'll have a tougher practice.

"You can bet both teams will go all out Saturday. This is a fine rivalry we have with Iowa. We respect them. The Hawkeyes had some tough breaks against Minnesota, but you have to give the Gophers credit. I believe Murray Warmath, Minnesota's coach, should be the coach of the year no matter what happens the rest of the way. He's done a marvelous job."

Ohio State is 3-1, Iowa 4-1 in the conference, but each boasts a 6-1 over-all record. Ohio holds a 190-55 scoring edge over its foes, while Iowa is out front 171-96.

Foot Returns To College Football In 1960 Season

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the 1960 college football season accomplishes little else, it will be known for returning, in a big way, the foot to football. And at the same time it may be bidding farewell to the "workhorse" back who has dominated many backfields.

The return of the foot is emphasized, not only in the continuing trend toward the successful use of the field goal, but in the diminishing use of the 2-point conversion try, now in its third season.

The 2-point play was used 51.4 per cent of the time the first year it was on the books. Then came the widening of the goal posts, and its usage dropped to 40 per cent in 1959 while this season has seen a further decline to only 29.5 per cent.

At the same time, the accuracy of the place kickers in this period has risen from 68.6 to 79.7 per cent, again getting a boost from the widened goal posts.

The field goal pace is slightly ahead of last year's pace when a record 195 were kicked n major college games. So far 168 have been made.

The disappearance of the "workhorse" is not a sudden thing but there have never been fewer than this season. UCLA's Bill Kilmer, who has playde only six games, has handled the ball 321 times for an average of 91 yards per game. In eight games, quarterback Howard Dyer of Virginia Military has averaged 29 attempts per game and has been among the total offense leaders for the season. Terry Baker of Oregon State has averaged 172 yards per game.

Mason Rudolph has been voted golf's rookie of the year. Through September he had earned $31,339, plus $12,500 from a 1959-60 televised golf series.

Minnesota Roars Into First Place Among College Powers

Iowa Slips To 5th Spot; Mules 2nd

By The Associated Press

The five teams of The Associated Press top 10 who escaped unscathed on "Black Saturday" last week possibly are a little apprehensive today.

If it could happen once—the defeat of five leaders in the weekly poll on one day—it could happen again, and several of the clubs in the select circle this week face rugged opposition.

Top-ranking Minnesota, for one. The Golden Gophers meet unranked Purdue, a much better team than its record indicates. Mississippi, No. 4 now, meets also unranked Tennessee, which last week, before its setback at the hands of Georgia Tech, was a member of the top 10.

Minnesota took over the No. 1 spot by virtue of its decisive, 27-10 victory over Iowa, previously the No. 1 team.. The Hawkeyes were dropped to fifth place in the voting by a 48-man panel of sports writers and sportscasters taking part in the poll. It was the Gophers' seventh straight victory.

Ohio State jumped from fifth to third by walloping Indiana, and Mississippi climbed from sixth to fourth with an easy victory over Chattanooga.

Three of the top 10 losers last week — Tennessee, Syracuse and Rice—were dropped from the list in this week's voting. Only Iowa and Navy, which lost to Duke stayed in the select circle. Navy is No. 8.

Duke, Arkansas and Auburn replaced the three ousted top 10 members. Washington advanced to No. 6 by whomping Southern California, a victory that practically clinches a Rose Bowl place.

Minnesota received 40 of the first place votes. Unbeaten Missouri, No. 2, received four, and Ohio State, Mississippi and Washington one each.

One panel member did not vote.

The leaders (first place votes in parentheses) points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1.	Minnesota (40)	462
2.	Missouri (4)	387
3.	Ohio State (1)	335
4.	Mississippi (1)	310
5.	Iowa	279
6.	Washington (1)	241
7.	Duke	156
8.	Navy	113
9.	Arkansas	72
10.	Auburn	64

Others receiving votes were: UCLA 38, Pittsburgh 31, Michigan State 16, Tennessee 15, New Mexico State 10, Rice 9, Yale 8, Syracuse 8, Utah State 7, Florida 6, Alabama 3, Texas, Kansas 3, Oregon 2, Michigan 1, Army 1.

Injured Race Driver Shows Improvement

The Los Angeles driver suffered a vertebra fracture when his 1,000-horsepower hydroplane challenger bounced into the air as it hit a wave during a preliminary to next weekend's Gold Cup races.

Dr. John Connolly said Thompson can move his toes, but his legs have no feeling.

"He will have to remain hospitalized at least two weeks, and it will be a while before we know if the paralysis is to clear up," the doctor said.

Huskies Fans Seek Rose Bowl Tickets

SEATTLE (AP) — As far as Washington fans are concerned, the Husky football team already has been picked for the Rose Bowl.

Applications for bowl tickets have been flowing in to the university in increasing numbers, especially since the Huskies' 34-0 win over USC Saturday. Washington's current-record is 7-1.

However, the applicants will have to wait some time yet. Officials said no tickets for the Jan. 2 classic will be issued until the Big Five Conference's entry is decided.

Houston Boasts AFL's 2 Top Ball Carriers

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Houston, the Eastern Division leader of the American Football League, boasts the AFL's top two ball carriers in Dave Smith and Billy Cannon.

Smith has gained 492 yards on 97 carries for a 5.1 average. Cannon, in 87 trips, has picked up 422 yards for a 4.9 average.

State Ruling Restricts Early Football Practice

The Board of Education Monday night instructed Supt. Ralph W. Betts to write the Potters Ladies Boosters Club that it is restricted by state law from considering the club's recommendation that the final period in a school day be changed to a study period so football players can begin practice earlier.

The club, in a letter to the board and superintendent, said it recommended the sixth period be changed to a study period for football players "after careful study and consideration."

Betts told the board the 1957 Ohio High School standards lists the coaching of scholastic athletic teams on school time or in physical education classes as one of the activities disapproved.

A check with the State Department of Education showed about 75 per cent of Ohio schools follow the ruling, including the majority in this area. Some, including a few in this area, do not abide by the ruling, he said.

Betts said local school officials were unaware of the ruling until some 18 months after it went into effect.

He also told the board some 30 high school boys are beseiging the school for a wrestling coach.

Merill Hall, athletic director, volunteered as a coach for this year to serve until a successor to Lou Venditti could be obtained. Venditti resigned the post sometime ago.

However, Betts said Hall must undergo a heel operation and will be idled for at least six weeks. He said he is continuing a search to find a staff member who will serve until after the Christmas vacation.

Mountie Coach Lauds Senior Quarterback

MORGANTOWN (AP)—Football coach Gene Corum had high praise today for Carmen Pomponio, a senior quarterback who has played only a few times on offense for West Virginia University.

Corum termed the 185-pounder's performance "excellent" and added "He could play on any team." Pomponio, recently named a co-captain for the remainder of the season, recovered two of Boston University's three fumbles in Saturday's 7-7 tie at Mountaineer Stadium.

Corum said Ponponio "hits mighty hard on defense" and is "very alert."

Corum plans to take 35 players to Portland for Saturday's game against Oregon. WVU will put its 0-6-2 record against Oregon's 5-2 mark.

Since the Mountaineers will miss one day of practice Thursday while flying across the country, they went through a heavier than usual first-of-the-week practice session yesterday.

Two doubtful starters because of injuries are end Ken Hrock and tackle Larry Niedzalkoski, both sophomores.

Funeral Services Set For College Registrar

CLEVELAND (AP) — Funeral services for Miss Elinor R. Wells, registrar at Flora Stone Mather College of Western Reserve University from 1929-50, will be held Thursday in Chardon. She died Monday in an East Cleveland rest home.

Miss Wells, 71, was a teacher at the North Lima high school for three years.

Albert Almanza, a member of Mexico's 1960 Olympic basketball team, is back playing for the University of Texas quintet. He averaged 10.8 points with the Longhorns last season.

NORTHSIDE. — We had trouble appraising this home because the replacement cost would be about $50,000.00, and 2 lots like the ones the home is located on cannot be found on North Side. Very suitable downstairs room for a doctor or other office. Only 1 block from Lincoln School —1 block from the city bus—and the street is paved and still quiet and all residential. 626 RILEY AVENUE — $6,300. 6 rooms — 3 bedrooms —gas heat — garage — and large size lots. Only 3 minutes from school.

NORTHSIDE. — We had trouble appraising this home because the replacement cost would be about $50,000.00, and 2 lots like the ones the home is located on cannot be found on North Side. We can't take too much off the value, because it is brick, the floors are hardwood, walls are plastered, and the home has 4 bedrooms and bath on the second floor plus 4 rooms and bath on the first. Very suitable downstairs room for a doctor or other office. Only 1 block from Lincoln School —1 block from the city bus—and the street is paved and still quiet and all residential. Total price $19,500

On Rt. 170 in a fairly new residential section — a 6 room and bath home, 1 story; 5 year old, lot size 175x280, Calcutta school district, The home is extra well built 3 bedrooms, plus a full dining room. $15,750.00

On one of the best streets in Maplewood we have a 3 bedroom cottage that is on the market. All hardwood floors, carpeted throughout, full basement, garage, gas furnace, city sewer and water. $15,500 takes the carpet, drapes, and the home.

A small lot but a LOT of HOME is what you'll find at 849 OHIO AVE. for $9000.00. This is an excellent location. 5 rooms and bath and a half, full basement, and a good furnace.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Is it fair of my father to hold it against a boy just because he happens to have a beard?

Chet is an awfully nice kid. He may be a little eccentric but so are a lot of artists, writers and musicians. Chet is 17 years old and he has red hair and freckles.

I'll admit that a red beard is a bit of a shock when he walks into a room but is that a good enough reason for my dad to say he doesn't want to see that "screwball" around our house any more?

Dad says I can go out with normal boys but no nuts. Please, Ann, help me.—BROKEN-HEATED SOPHIE.

Dear Broken-Hearted: Sorry, but a 17-year-old kid with a red beard is too far out.

Chet is using the beard as a gimmick to draw attention to himself. Apparently he doesn't have enough confidence in his personality, his brains or his achievements.

Tell Chet if he values your friendship to please shave and not try for Kooksville.

Ashamed Of Mother

Dear Ann: Our mother is divorced. We don't hear from Dad because he has remarried and lives out of town. He sends support money and Mom gets alimony.

I am a boy 13 and I may not be very old but I'm old enough to know that a man shouldn't be sleeping on our couch almost every night. We are supposed to call him Uncle Jack, but he's no uncle, and that's for sure.

He keeps some of his clothes here and eats with us almost every night. We kids don't think this is very nice. The Ten Commandments say we are supposed to honor our mother. How can we?—ASHAMED KIDS.

Dear Ashamed Kids: Of course it isn't right and you are to be congratulated for your good sense in the face of the poor example being set for you.

Every one of the Ten Commandments is good. I say to you kids, honor your mother, whether she deserves it or not. Maybe one day she'll be worthy of it.

Back To ABC's

Dear Ann: I'm a very worried mother who needs help. Our 13-year-old son has been promoted into the seventh grade and he cannot read.

How in the world he got so far in school I will never be able to understand. I put the blame squarely on the teachers who promoted him.

His grades were ever anything to shout about but he never flunked anything. He must have fooled everybody by picking up just enough to get by from listening.

Yesterday when I asked him to read the directions off a cake box because I mislaid my glasses, I discovered he doesn't know even the simplest words such as "cup" and "mix."

I'm shocked and disturbed. What kind of schools do we have in this country anyway? Is this what we are paying taxes for?

Please tell me what to do with this boy.—W.W.W.

Dear W.W.W.: I agree it's pretty sad commentary when a pupil who can't read is permitted to enter the seventh grade. If your son is 13 and this is the first time you've heard him read aloud, where in heaven's name have you been???

Ask the school principal to direct you to a private tutor who specialized in remedial reading. Your son needs concentrated instruction and must be started at the ABC level.

Some mothers are able to manage with the help of proper textbooks but you sound too emotionally involved with the boy. I suggest a trained professional.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Evangelism Aired As Ministers Meet

Five minute statements on evangelism highlighted the meeting of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association Monday morning at the First Methodist Church.

Participants were the Rev. Glenn Jones' Oklahoma evangelist and a district superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, and John N. Mostoller, pastor of the First Church of Christ.

Rev. Jones was introduced by the Rev. James Hunton, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, program chairman. Rev. Hunton led an open discussion on "Cooperative Evangelism in America Today."

Business was conducted by the Rev. James Gardner, pastor of the Orchard Grove Community Methodist Church, president. Devotions were led by the Rev. Ronald Rearic of the Boyce Methodist Church.

The next meeting will be Dec. 5.

Gasoline service stations in the U. S. accounted for $16,793,000,000 worth of gas, oil and other petroleum products sales in 1959. Backing up these retailers was $26 million in newspaper advertising by the various manufacturers of gasolines and oils.

Citrus Supply Seen Growing

The citrus season is here again, according to Richard Skinner, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Grapefruit supplies are abundant and the quality has improved during the past couple of weeks, he said. Florida oranges also are becoming more widely available. Prices will be higher than last year because of Hurricane Donna. The California oranges are popular for eating fresh. The smaller sizes usually offer the consumer the most for his money.

This year's cranberry crop is estimated to be the largest ever. The size and quality is much improved over that of other years. The cranberry growers are using extreme caution to insure that this year's crop is safe and free from residues.

Apple supplies continue to be plentiful with a large range of varieties. Cortland, Jonathan, Red and Yellow Delicious, Staymen, Grimes Golden and McIntosh all are availabe in this area. Red Delicious is considered the best for salads. All varieties are desirable for eating.

At the vegetable counters, you will find a wide selection to choose from. Sweet potatoes are low in cost for the food value they contain. Onions still are low in price. Potatoes, turnips and carrots are economical choices. Now is the season for winter squash, cabbage, cauliflower, brocelli and Brussels sprouts.

In the next week, you will find turkeys becoming more abundant in supply. Because there were more large turkeys grown this year, you may find them a more economical choice than the small ones. You will want to check the price per pound of both the large and the small before buying.

In many stores pork will be featured. Look to picnics and loin roasts for economical choices.

Missing Boat Bearing 6 Spotted By Copter

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP)—A boat bearing six persons—including two Ohioans—was spotted by a Marine helicopter off the North Carolina coast Monday after being missing since Saturday. The boat, carrying four Marines and two youngsters, was found about six miles off Bogue Inlet, about 20 miles from here, the Coast Guard said. All the occupants were reported unharmed.

Among the occupants were Cpl. Aaron Rader, 21, son of Mrs. Nettie Rader, Rt. 1, Camden, Ohio, and Pfc. K. W. Parks, 20, son of Wilber E. Parks of Cleveland, Ohio. They are stationed at Camp LeJeune. The Coast Guard said the 30-foot shrimp boat had engine trouble. It was later taken under tow by a commercial boat.

Contributes To Ohioan

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union has reported making a $1,200 contribution to the campaign of a contender for an Ohio congressional seat. It went to Democratic John H. Mihaly, who is challenging 14th District Rep. William H. Ayers, Republican from Akron.

2 Ohio Men To Face Grand Jury In Attack

WILLIAMSON, W.Va. (AP) — Two Columbus, Ohio, men—Jackie Hagwood, 19, and Harry Lee Taylor, 21—have been bound over to the Mingo County grand jury on rape charges involving an 11-year-old Williamson girl.

Williamson Police Cpl. Council Adams said he and Patrolman William Justice arrested Hagwood and Taylor Sunday night after the mother of the girl obtained a warrant claiming the two men took the girl against her will into Kentucky on Oct. 13 and remained with her overnight, returning her in time for school the next day.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Is it fair of my father to hold it against a boy just because he happens to have a beard?

Chet is an awfully nice kid. He may be a little eccentric but so are a lot of artists, writers and musicians. Chet is 17 years old and he has red hair and freckles.

I'll admit that a red beard is a bit of a shock when he walks into a room but is that a good enough reason for my dad to say he doesn't want to see that "screwball" around our house any more?

Dad says I can go out with normal boys but no nuts. Please, Ann, help me.—BROKEN-HEATED SOPHIE.

Dear Broken-Hearted: Sorry, but a 17-year-old kid with a red beard is too far out.

Chet is using the beard as a gimmick to draw attention to himself. Apparently he doesn't have enough confidence in his personality, his brains or his achievements.

Tell Chet if he values your friendship to please shave and not try for Kooksville.

Ashamed Of Mother

Dear Ann: Our mother is divorced. We don't hear from Dad because he has remarried and lives out of town. He sends support money and Mom gets alimony.

I am a boy 13 and I may not be very old but I'm old enough to know that a man shouldn't be sleeping on our couch almost every night. We are supposed to call him Uncle Jack, but he's no uncle, and that's for sure.

He keeps some of his clothes here and eats with us almost every night. We kids don't think this is very nice. The Ten Commandments say we are supposed to honor our mother. How can we?—ASHAMED KIDS.

Dear Ashamed Kids: Of course it isn't right and you are to be congratulated for your good sense in the face of the poor example being set for you.

Every one of the Ten Commandments is good. I say to you kids, honor your mother, whether she deserves it or not. Maybe one day she'll be worthy of it.

Back To ABC's

Dear Ann: I'm a very worried mother who needs help. Our 13-year-old son has been promoted into the seventh grade and he cannot read.

How in the world he got so far in school I will never be able to understand. I put the blame squarely on the teachers who promoted him.

His grades were ever anything to shout about but he never flunked anything. He must have fooled everybody by picking up just enough to get by from listening.

Yesterday when I asked him to read the directions off a cake box because I mislaid my glasses, I discovered he doesn't know even the simplest words such as "cup" and "mix."

I'm shocked and disturbed. What kind of schools do we have in this country anyway? Is this what we are paying taxes for?

Please tell me what to do with this boy.—W.W.W.

Dear W.W.W.: I agree it's pretty sad commentary when a pupil who can't read is permitted to enter the seventh grade. If your son is 13 and this is the first time you've heard him read aloud, where in heaven's name have you been???

Ask the school principal to direct you to a private tutor who specialized in remedial reading. Your son needs concentrated instruction and must be started at the ABC level.

Some mothers are able to manage with the help of proper textbooks but you sound too emotionally involved with the boy. I suggest a trained professional.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
